BOY MUST GO TO WORK TO SUPPORT VICTIM

JUDGE HOFFMAN
... unusual sentence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A juvenile court judge Wednesday ordered a 16-year-old boy to work to help support the family of a man he ran down with an auto.

Arthur J. Brookes Jr. will start immediately as a hod-carrier for a bricklaying firm and turn over half his weekly pay cheque to Steven M. Breitenbach, 41, until Brookes reaches 21. He will earn $2 an hour.

Breitenbach, who has three children, was struck July 17 as he watered his lawn. He lost his right foot and suffered head and body injuries in the accident. He is a printer.

Judge J. Sydney Hoffman said if young Brookes misses a payment he faces incarceration at the state correctional institution. And his parents will have to forfeit a $5,000 judgment note.

High Pension Cost Denied by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh has denied a report that the cost of financing the Canada Pension Plan will rise to 15 per cent of payroll earnings.

Miss LaMarsh said in the Commons Wednesday that figures quoted by a Toronto actuary firm are "completely erroneous."

"The figures which were given at the time of the submission (by the government) are correct so far as actuaries are able to give figures, bearing in mind that we are projecting into the future," she said in reply to P. B. Ryland (PC-Simcoe East).

However the health minister said that the cost to employers and employees could rise to five per cent by the year 2000. Health department actuaries estimate the cost of the plan at two per cent.

The two-per cent rate, to be divided between employers and their workers, is guaranteed for the first 10 years of the pension plan.

A Toronto actuarial firm said last week that the ultimate cost of the plan would be about nine per cent of payroll earnings. This would rise to 15 per cent by adding taxes needed to support the present $65 pension paid to all persons 70 years of age and over.

Miss LaMarsh said it is not correct to tie in both pensions because they are "on a completely different basis."

FLUORIDE FIGHT PROVES COSTLY

DUBLIN (UPI)—A 34-year-old Dublin housewife faced a court bill today totalling about $700,000.

Mrs. Gladys Ryan lost a 67-day court battle against the Irish government over its decision to put fluoride into the country's water to counter tooth decay in children.

She asked the high court to rule it unconstitutional, and experts from Europe, the United States, India, Japan and South Africa were brought in to give evidence, but the court ruled against her and ordered her to pay the costs.

Mrs. Ryan, who says she cannot possibly pay, has appealed to the supreme court.

Ottawa Sets Trusteeship For Unions

OTTAWA (UPI)—Labor Minister Allan MacEachen announced today the government will introduce legislation in the fall to set up a trusteeship governing the activities of the Canadian maritime transportation unions.

In a statement to the Commons, MacEachen said the government and Canadian Labor Congress had reached agreement that a trusteeship, the major recommendation of the Norris shipping inquiry report, was necessary under present "extraordinary" conditions.

MacEachen stressed that it would be of a temporary nature, and described it as a "dis-tasteful remedy to deal with a repugnant situation."

He said the legislation was not being introduced before the summer recess as it would have been of a general nature.

He said the government intended to press ahead with a detailed bill during the recess to overcome any constitutional problems involved in order to reach a satisfactory solution.

The delay could cost the contractors up to $750,000 in penalties.

The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority confirmed Wednesday that the tunnels through the mountain will not be finished for at least 30 days after the Aug. 15 completion date.

But it said it does not know whether all penalties will be assessed.

The contract called for a $250,000 bonus for meeting the completion date and a $25,000 penalty for each day beyond it. Companies in the contracting group are Gilpin Construction Ltd. of Vancouver; Mannix Con-

'Public Interest Being Obstructed' — Bonner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today accused B.C. Power Corporation directors of obstructing the public interest.

His gloves-off attack came as the whole B.C. Electric-B.C. Hydro stew continued to boil in the wake of Monday's judgment against the government.

B.C. Electric's former president, Dr. H. L. Purdy, filed an affidavit in court declaring he considers himself reinstated.

The directors of the private company met in Vancouver to lay their strategy for attempting to regain control.

PREPARED TO FIGHT

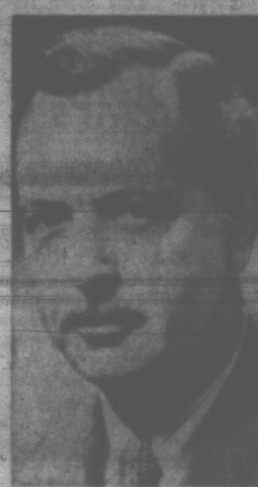

B.C. Hydro and government lawyers prepared for a tough fight in the B.C. Supreme Court on Monday to retain public control pending an appeal of the judgment which declared the B.C. Electric takeover beyond provincial power.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. Power Corp. is not acting in the public interest in its attempts to obstruct a stay of proceedings which would allow B.C. Hydro to carry on public business.

He predicted that corporation lawyers would be especially obstructive in court Monday.

He said B.C. Power's original move for a cash settlement and its subsequent bid to regain control of B.C. Electric cannot be reconciled.

The best course, if it really wanted a settlement, he sug-

Power Team Ottawa-Bound Despite Uproar at Home

Three B.C. officials left Wednesday to open the first round of new Columbia treaty negotiations with Ottawa and the U.S., despite the legal thunderstorm at home.

The technical team will pave the way for a future top-level meeting which will probably include Premier Bennett, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, and high U.S. officials.

B.C. and Ottawa have already agreed upon their policy in new negotiations with the Americans on what have been termed "modifications" in the treaty.

The technical details of that policy will come under discussion in Ottawa today.

Ontario Raids Net 12 Suspects

TORONTO (CP)—RCMP officers smashed what they claim to be Canada's largest narcotics syndicate when they raided homes in Toronto and two other towns Wednesday night, arresting 12 persons and seizing $100,000 worth of heroin.

They said the arrests of seven men and five women culminated five months of intensive investigations in six major Canadian cities. More arrests were expected.

In an operation code named "Mr. Big," 75 RCMP officers reinforced by Metropolitan Toronto Police, had probed the streets of the cities dressed as bums and addicts, trailing suspects and photographing "drug meets" with telescopic lenses.

Officials said they estimate the syndicate handled $500,000 worth of heroin in March alone. They said it may have supplied United States sources for a time and almost certainly supplied major Canadian cities, especially in Ontario and British Columbia.

The cleanup started when RCMP officers arrested "chief suspect" Charles Cipolla, 50, a Guelph fruit shop and restaurant owner, outside a Brampton restaurant and seized $2,500. Cipolla claimed he had won the money in a crap game. Arrested with him was Orval Charles Hardy, 48, of Toronto.

RAIDED APARTMENTS

RCMP officers said they seized another $7,500 in raids on seven Toronto apartments.

All suspects were charged with conspiring to traffic in drugs and possessing drugs for that purpose.

Chief RCMP superintendent W. W. Womacott said the amount of heroin seized represented about a 10-day supply for Toronto's estimated 500 addicts.

He predicted the drug families would send the addicts streaming to Montreal, Vancouver and other centres.

Cipolla was charged with conspiracy to traffic in narcotics and possession of narcotics for purposes of trafficking.

FACE SAME CHARGES

Facing the same charges are: Orval Charles Hardy, 48; Jack Dalton Meldrum, 43; James Orville Ross, 40; Gloria West, 33; Marion Burns, 32; Michele Christine Poole, 20; Joan Dickson, 30; Frank Edgar Piro, 46; and Douglas James Thibault, 33, all of Toronto.

All were to appear in court today.

RCMP said it has linked about $500,000 worth of drugs to the ring since mid-March. Most of the drugs were not seized for fear of disturbing surveillance.

Staff Sgt. Kelly Labrus, head of the RCMP drug squad here, said the drugs were believed to have come in from Europe through Montreal and New York for distribution in Ontario from Toronto.

Outbreak of Thefts Predicted for City

A rash of drug thefts from pharmacies and doctors' offices was predicted in the metropolitan areas of B.C. today with the closure of the illicit market in Toronto.

A criminal investigation branch officer at RCMP headquarters said the narcotics underworld is controlled by supply and demand.

"The eastern syndicates have been the source and now they are dried up," he said.

"The pattern has been that the addicts—and B.C. has the highest concentration—then turn to other sources such as doctors' bags and offices and drug stores."

They went ahead despite Monday's supreme court ruling that B.C. Hydro does not legally exist.

Hydro, the officially designated agency for the Columbia River project, is seeking a court order allowing it to remain in business pending an appeal.

The negotiations with the U.S. centre on sale by B.C. of Columbia downstream benefits.

B.C. wants enough money from the Americans to pay the $400,000,000 worth of construction on the three treaty dams it will build to harness the Columbia.

Other treaty modifications sought include extra payments for flood control.

LIVING under political restriction, Nobel Peace Prize winner, Albert Lutuli, president of South Africa's banned African National Congress, has been refused permission to attend his installation as rector of Glasgow's University in October. Appeals have been made to South African authorities to reconsider their decision.

DEFENCE HEARING

Bomarc — Can
It Cook?

OTTAWA (CP) — Scientific arguments on whether or not a Bomarc nuclear warhead can "cook" the nuclear bomb in an attacking bomber swirled over the heads of members of the Commons defence committee today.

Dr. D. B. Scott, physicist from the University of Alberta, testified it would be "relatively simple" for an enemy to ensure that an H-bomb in an attacking bomber would explode without being cooked—made relatively harmless by a Bomarc warhead explosion.

Dr. J. E. Keyston, vice-chairman of the defence research board, told the committee this was "a completely incorrect conclusion."

He said Dr. Scott and a group of University of Alberta scientists, who recently issued a paper attacking the Bomarc's effectiveness, had applied "elementary theory to a conjecture regarding H-bomb design that pictures it in highly oversimplified terms."

After 2½ hours of often bewildering testimony and chalk diagrams on a blackboard, the committee ended the hearing. Its conclusions, if any, will be decided later.

EXPRESS DISMAY

Several committee members expressed dismay at outright contradictions between the statements of Dr. Scott and two physicists who had accompanied him, and those of Dr. Keyston and Dr. George Field, chief scientist of the Defence Research Board.

"The difference is not a clash of science against science," Dr. Keyston said.

It was a "clash" between the theoretical physics of the Alberta group and the practical knowledge of DRB on armament technology backed up by classified information from the United States.

At one point Edmund Asselin (L — Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) asked Dr. Scott whether he thinks Dr. Keyston's evidence was "a gigantic hoax on the Canadian people" or whether he conceded that the Defence Research Board had access to information which the University of Alberta hasn't.

Dr. Scott indicated he hasn't changed his views—"I go out by the same door where I came." But he suggested that scientists from the DRB and outside organizations discuss the question privately "rather than as apparent antagonists in a public forum."

provincial government guarantee.

But after the Supreme Court judgment Monday that B.C. Hydro was not a legal entity and that the B.C. Electric takeover was invalid, the bank's Vancouver office issued the directive that its B.C. branches would not cash the bonds.

There are $135,650,000 worth of B.C. Hydro parity bonds. H. P. Weatherhill, the B.C. superintendent of the bank, declared that it would only act as agent to collect the cash value of any of them from the government. It would not advance the money.

No other banks followed suit, in fact the Victoria branch of the Royal was unaware of the directive until late afternoon.

Today Mr. Weatherhill issued a statement rescinding the directive. But he declined to say who had ordered it, or who had cancelled it.

He said the action was taken on legal advice that "there is at this moment no effective guarantee of the province."

But today, the bank decided that whatever the legal situation, the practical situation demanded that the bonds should be traded as usual.

"The bank having satisfied itself that, regardless of the ultimate outcome of litigation, there is no practical (as distinct from legal) problem, and that the province of B.C. will stand behind any securities purporting to carry their guarantee, the bank today resumed trading and redeeming its parity bonds as before," Mr. Weatherhill said.

Three cabinet ministers Wednesday declared the guarantees are absolutely unimpaired by the court case.

"The judgment didn't invalidate the government," said Water Resources Minister Ray Williston.

"I want to say in the strongest possible terms that we will stand behind these bonds regardless of what name or what agency appears on them."

MONTREAL TABLOID SUED BY FAIRBANKSFAIRBANKS
asks $250,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Actor and businessman Douglas Fairbanks Jr. has launched a $250,000 damage action against publisher John Vander and the Montreal weekly tabloid Midnight as a result of an article titled "My Weekend With Christine." The action was taken in Superior Court here Wednesday.

The story, published under copyright in the July 29 issue of Midnight which went on sale two weeks ago was described as being "By Douglas Fairbanks Jr., as told to Donald Cole."

It dealt with a weekend at Viscount Astor's Cliveden estate in England involving London society osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward, party girls Christine Keeler, Mandy Rice-Davies and others.

WARD

But Bill could have spoken up for me. His silence crucified me."

Ward said he often borrowed from Astor, but "paid every penny back" including a cheque Astor wrote for the girls' apartment rent.

LITTLE HOPE

He said he called the reporter in because "my lawyers say there is little hope left. Tomorrow I'm going to be nailed at the Old Bailey. It's not a pleasant thought."

"This has been a political revenge trial," Ward said. "Someone had to be sacrificed and that was me. One or two people can still vindicate me. But when the establishment wants blood, you can't wriggle out."

Christine spent Wednesday testifying at a secret investigation of the security risks involved in her affair with Profumo, which took place at the same time she was seeing Capt. Yevgeny Ivanov, an assistant Soviet naval attaché.

Mandy meanwhile attended a swank midnight dinner party 20th-Century-Fox gave to celebrate the British premier of the movie Cleopatra. Three guests stalked out when they found themselves seated at Mandy's table.

"FORCED INTO RATTING"

Mandy, whose testimony for the prosecution helped to convict Ward, told reporters:

"Stephen is lying desperately ill because Christine and I were forced into rattling against him. I had to speak to save myself. It seemed the only way out."

"Had I known what was going to happen, I would have kept my mouth shut. After I talked, other girls did."

Immediately after the verdict Christine locked herself in a friend's West End apartment saying: "When is all this going to end?"

"IT'S BEEN DREADFUL"

"This whole business has been so dreadful for me," said Christine.

"I am only 21, but everyone thinks I must be a very wicked girl. I don't think I am. I am just an ordinary girl trying to look after herself."

She has looked after herself so well that British newspapermen estimate her bank balance is fatter by £30,000 ($30,000) as a result of the Profumo scandal. More than £20,000 came from the sale of her memoirs to a Sunday newspaper. The rest was fees for photographs.

'Make MPs
Work
Full-Time'

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (UAW) said Wednesday members of Parliament "should give up moonlighting" and perform a full week's work if they get pay increases.

A bill providing MPs and senators with increases has been given Commons approval and now awaits Senate action. "The Canadian public should demand an end to the Tuesday-through-Thursday work week which so many MPs have set for themselves," he said.

and the hurried trips back to the law office, farm or contracting firm," he said in an interview.

"No one argues against decent pay for MPs, but surely $18,000 a year ($6,000 tax exempt) plus travel and telephone allowances entitles the Canadian public to full-time representation."

Pension Hike Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — The Civil Service Federation, in a brief to Finance Minister Gordon made public Wednesday, seeks pension increases for civil servants who retired prior to 1958.

In that year increases were approved for pensioned members of the armed forces, the RCMP and civil servants who retired before 1953.

ARTIST, OSTEOPATH

(Copyright, London Daily Express)

LONDON (UPI) — Artist, osteopath, playboy, romantic. These are the four faces of Stephen Ward.

Proclaimed as a leading portrait artist, he sketched royalty at Buckingham Palace.

Accepted as a top society osteopath, the famous were among his patients.

A witty and gay conversationalist, he was a sought-after guest at many exclusive Mayfair dinner parties.

Yet the complex Stephen Ward was also a libertine, pornographer, and a constant companion of prostitutes and call girls. He was happy in drab Soho clubs, shabby Bayswater restaurants and delighted in squalid sex parties.

Stephen Ward has talked about his life, his women, sex, art and medicine.

On women: "I suppose I have been one of the most successful men in London with girls since the war. I have never had any trouble getting the women I want. The secret is my basic interest in women as people."

"They fascinate me. I am not handsome. I have never been rich. Even today at 50 I can get most girls I want."

Natural Talent

On art: "I never had any training, but I seem to have a natural talent for portraiture. I can capture likeness in a few strokes without the end product being caricature."

On marriage: "I was never meant to be married. I belong to them all."

On sex: "Let's face it, I've been unlucky. I've had sex with high-born and with low-born women. There is a great fascination in taking a Bayswater 'alley-cat' and doing a professor 'Higgins' on her. I am not ashamed of having paid prostitutes. I enjoyed their services—so do many other men, only

He will be remembered in society for his self-professed classlessness. Persons throughout the social scale were his friends. Britain was shocked when a war minister and a call girl rubbed shoulders at a peer's stately home. Ward was the link between the three.

He was a friend of the girl, the minister, and the peer. It caused him no embarrassment. He took it all philosophically, shrugged his shoulders, and said: "There is no class structure in my life. There are people I like, and people I don't like."

When the white phone rang, as it often did, at his small flat in Bryanston-Mews, Mayfair, it could be a call from a titled person, a diplomat, an MP, a film star, a second-hand car dealer—or a prostitute.

He would step into his grey two-seater Jaguar and drive off to a late-night party at Cliveden, or cock 'tils in Mayfair—or to rendezvous with a prostitute in the Bayswater Road.

JOHN PROFUMO

His friends remember him as a witty, erudite, urbane man, lounging in his flat, dressed casually in a white open-necked shirt, drinking eternal cups of coffee, chain-smoking and talking incessantly about politics, girls, art, life, dropping the Christian names of top people like Bill Astor, Douglas Fairbanks, "Jack" Profumo.

Despite his friends and contacts, despite his envied acceptance by society, Stephen Ward returned again and again to gutter sex. He realized a great sense of power over the provincial good-time girls who, he felt, could be moulded into international society beauties like Vicki Martin, who died in a road crash in 1955.

He said of Christine Keeler and Mandy Rice-Davies: "They depended on me, and frankly, I liked it."

"Keeler could have become a duchess. It's a shame."

Stephen Thomas Ward was born at Lemsford Vicarage, Hatfield, Hertfordshire, on October 19, 1912.

His father was the Rev. Arthur Evelyn Ward, and his mother was the daughter of an Irish titled family.

Little Stephen played in the vicarage grounds with his two brothers and twin sisters. The family moved to Twickenham, where his father became vicar of Holy Trinity.

Ward went to prep school at Paignton and, when he was 14, to Canford public school.

At 18, Ward had fallen in love a dozen times with the best of the local girls. He was also becoming recognized as a natural artist. After leaving school he went to Hamburg, Germany, where he worked as a translator for an oil company. His German was weak and a year later he went to London searching for a job. "After a few months I became bored and went to the Break-Up Near in Divorce Log-Jam?

By RON LEBEL
OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickersgill said Wednesday the government will support a new formula to break up a log-jam of more than 1,100 parliamentary divorces.

The government House leader told the Commons that a private member's bill sponsored by Nicholas Mandziuk (PC—Marquette) will be debated on government time later this session to facilitate its passage.

"It is my understanding that this bill would have fairly widespread support in the House," Mr. Pickersgill said.

He made the comment as the Commons gave second reading—approval in principle—to 200 divorce bills in addition to the 50 given second reading last week. The bills go before the Commons miscellaneous private bills committee today.

Several measures received royal assent in the Senate Wednesday including amendments to the Atlantic Development Board Act creating a fund of up to $100,000,000 and increasing board membership to 11 from five.

The Mandziuk divorce bill provides for the appointment of a divorce commissioner who would be an officer of the Senate with legal training.

He would hear testimony on divorce petitions from Quebec and Newfoundland, the only provinces without divorce courts, and make recommendations to the Senate.

The Senate would pass a resolution to annul or dissolve a number of marriages and the Commons would not have to deal with the divorce cases. In the event of an appeal, the appellant's petition would be considered by both houses of Parliament in the form of a private bill.

Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming), who has led a two-year procedural battle against parliamentary divorces along with Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena), said outside the Commons that he will support the Mandziuk bill. Mr. Howard was absent from Ottawa.

Mr. Peters added, however, that he will continue his procedural blockade until the new formula becomes law.

Mr. Pickersgill said outside the House that the Mandziuk measure may be called for debate before the adjournment expected late this week if there is an agreement between the parties to pass it with little debate. This prospect was not expected to materialize, however.

WHITE PROSPERITY SNOWBALLING

Detested South Africa Laughs on Way to Bank

By HENRI JONKER

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — This white-ruled country stands out as one of the African continent's greatest paradoxes.

The hand of practically every other country in Africa is against it. It is openly detested because of its race segregation policies. It is currently under intensified threats of trade and other sanctions in the United Nations.

EXPANSION PHASE

Yet economic prosperity, especially for the white minority, is snowballing.

The economy has been in an expansion phase for nearly two years; industry is working at capacity, and more and bigger investment projects are getting under way.

"As a matter of fact, we are becoming rich," a leading industrialist observed recently. He noted that South Africans now "save some 30 per cent of our national income, compared with 14.7 per cent for the U.S."

South Africa, to a large extent, is the world's treasure house.

PRODUCES MOST GOLD

South Africa produces 70 per cent of the Western world's gold. It has the highest production of gem diamonds, chrome ore and platinum, second highest of asbestos and antimony ore, third of manganese, vanadium ore and industrial diamonds.

In the first three months of 1963 total fixed investment increased by eight per cent over

Some of the things happening to make this Africa's land of milk and honey, mostly for the whites, are the following:

The value of gold production, $393,000,000 in the first half of 1961 and $441,000,000 in the first half of 1962, rose to $473,000,000 in the first half of this year.

American, Canadian, British and German enterprise is combining with South African interests to establish one of the world's greatest new open-pit copper mines. An estimated $100,000,000 will be spent to bring it to the production stage.

Agricultural crops are good and exports of corn and sugar have risen steeply.

Despite much-increased imports not offset by extra value of about six months' imports. For the first time since the war there is little danger that a shortage of foreign exchange would compel the government to restrain an upward movement of the economy.

The record inflow of white immigrants, currently about 2,500 a month, is relieving a shortage of skilled workers and has converted a situation of unemployment in the building industry into a building boom. The immigrants also boost trade by the ready cash they bring with them.

Government and semi-state institutions are making vast investments in power supply, rail and road communications, irrigation and hydro-electric projects, heavy industry such as railway coach building and engineering industry, which is heavily involved in stepped-up armaments manufacture for the country's record peacetime defence program.

British textile manufacturer Cyril Lord is moving a complete textile plant from Lancashire to South Africa. The multi-million-pound venture is aided by state incentives and subsidies will probably be provided to get the machines rolling. Some 30,000,000 yards of superfine cottons will be produced annually and South Africa hopes to invade foreign markets with this commodity. This project has also opened up considerable opportunities to cotton growers.

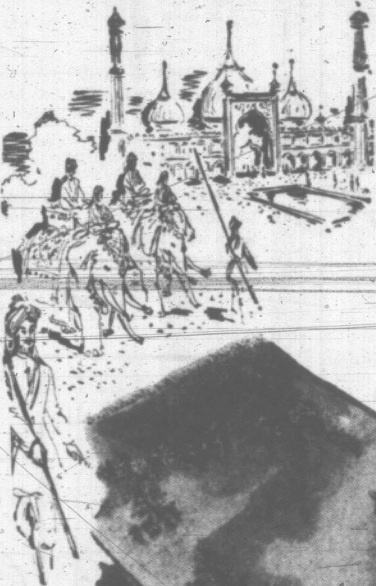

A joint U.S.-South African venture has started production of automobile shock absorbers, a result of the government's insistence on increased local content in motor vehicles.

In conditions of easy money it has become easy to build homes. A young couple can get loans on 10 per cent down and 4 1/2 years to repay. In certain schemes no down payment is required.

Forecast: More Fog

THE TWO COURT APPLICATIONS promised for next Monday will do nothing to solve the confusion into which the province's hydro power has been thrown, but they may impose a temporary stalemate which will determine control of the B.C. Electric during the months or years of litigation apparently ahead.

The power empire which Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bonner so biffly assembled two years ago has been whirled through the turbine blades of the Supreme Court and come out, not as a cohesive force, but as spray. This chaotic condition extends not only through the Social Credit Government's hydro agency — now legally non-existent — but into the Peace and Columbia River construction programs, into the province's financial picture which is being carefully watched by both actual and potential investors, into the political situation of B.C., and into the wallets of every power user and taxpayer in the province.

Partisan chortling over Mr. Bennett's plight—that this will cost HIM a few millions, that HE will have to pay for all this, that the B.C. Power Corporation has got HTM in a corner—such mirth has little joy when it is remembered whose money is at stake. Through his ambitious plans, questionable legal advice and autocratic denial of the ordinary rights of appeal, Mr. Bennett has cost the people of this province millions of dollars and fouled up the whole vital power situation for years to come.

W. C. 'Billy' Moresby, QC

THE BAR, CIVIC PUBLIC LIFE, the athletic fraternity of Victoria and clubmen saw another link with earlier days severed by the death of Mr. William Charles "Billy" Moresby, Q.C., this week. Since he came to this city as a youth before the turn of the century he had been a figure of prominence, serving at different times on the city council and city school board, of which he had been chairman two years.

Though a man of wide interests, his abiding concern had centred on the affairs of the British Columbia Law Society of which he was an honorary life member following lengthy service as a bench and Even now, negotiation with the power company leading to a fair cash settlement could obviate much of the mess. But Mr. Bonner is determined to fight the thing through on a constitutional basis because, as he says, it will be important for the other provinces of Confederation to see what happens. Surely if determination of the point is important for legal purposes, it could be on a constitutional basis without tying up British Columbia's power affairs until it is settled. A voluntary sale of BCE assets to the province at an arbitrated price would not infringe the parent company's federal status as the take-over did, and the Hydro Authority could be legally reconstituted to carry on its activities.

Regardless of whether the Appeal Court and later the Supreme Court of Canada uphold Chief Justice Lett's decision, the province's hydro should not be submerged in confusion for years during an effort to justify the actions of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bonner and establish an important constitutional point. That is much too high a price to pay for the misjudgment of these men and it can be avoided.

An impartial survey of the record of Mr. Bennett's administration would reveal some items to its credit—the ferry system, the highway program and other projects based on B.C.'s 10-year wave of prosperity. But the blunders it has executed have been large and spectacular and costly, and usually rooted in the same human frailty.

several terms as treasurer—the office corresponding to president in other associations.

A source of unequalled knowledge of various phases of Victoria's life, he could talk entertainingly and authoritatively on sporting events in which he had participated as a young man and as an ardent follower, particularly of rugby, in his later years. Similarly he could recall incidents of spectacular trials and unusual court incidents in which he frequently was a central figure.

Until failing health in later years confined his activities, he remained young in heart and enthusiastically interested in the affairs of youth and education.

The Rebel

IN PLAIN ENGLISH, MR. HARKNESS' call for a national convention of the Conservative Party means that he demands the removal of Mr. Diefenbaker. There can be no other purpose in a convention and Mr. Harkness, a candid man, does not pretend that there is.

But Mr. Harkness is not the only rebel in the party. Two other members of the Diefenbaker government, Messrs. Hees and Sevginy, resigned with Mr. Harkness early this year and for the same reason. They could no longer stomach Mr. Diefenbaker's anti-Americanism. Several other ministers, while not actually resigning, refused to run for reelection so long as Mr. Diefenbaker led the party.

Clearly he is fighting for his political life today and this fact probably explains the strident tone of his latest speeches. It will not be easy, however, for his opponents to unhorse him since he still holds two major assets—the party machinery and the solid prairie vote. Besides, there is no obvious alternative to him.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba, the most likely successor, could hardly enter a leadership contest with the prairie delegates, in his own bailiwick, against him. In any case, after its disastrous experience with one western leader, the party no doubt would prefer an easterner, especially when it can never hope for office again until it is re-built in its old citadel of Ontario.

This calculation probably accounts for the recent build-up of Premier Roberts whose tacit accord with Premier Lesage of Quebec, in the issues of federal-provincial relations, seems to have a significance far beyond the field of finance.

All these things are mysterious. But there is no mystery about the rebellion now publicly led by Mr. Harkness.

The One That Got Away

FROM OTTAWA

Most Difficult of All Tasks for Members

DESPITE a drenching rain outside it was sunshine day in the House of Commons; the day on which members proceeded with all deliberate speed to endorse a resolution in the name of the prime minister and to give first and second readings to the bill dealing with seasonal indemnities and other matters. Mr. Pearson explained at the outset that the resolution involved perhaps the most difficult of all tasks which members have to discharge, since it affects their own interests. They showed impressive fortitude, assisted undoubtedly by the knowledge that the government accepted a responsibility in this matter which its predecessor had refused.

The prime minister dwelt briefly on the considerations which had induced the ministry to propose this comprehensive measure. He mentioned increased costs, the length of sessions which require members nowadays to spend most of the year in Ottawa, the financial loss commonly involved in membership, and the difficulty in these circumstances of securing candidates.

Two Homes

This case has substance, as anyone in close touch with Parliament is well aware. What many people fail to realize is that the average member is compelled to maintain two homes, one in his constituency and one in the capital. Many in consequence become burdened with debt and others leave public life altogether. This is not a problem for wealthy men but it is rare nowadays to find critics prepared to argue that Parliament should be a preserve of the well-to-do.

There were a few clouds on Monday and most of them drifted across the chamber during the speech of Mr. Diefenbaker. Conservative members may have been interested in their leader's historical pilgrimages but they were glumly unresponsive to his logic, if indeed they were able to follow it. He was saved from the humiliation of virtual isolation in the House of Commons only by the vote of six Prairie members—all but one from Saskatchewan—of whom some were undoubtedly motivated by considerations of personal loyalty.

Strange Course

Mr. Diefenbaker followed a very strange course, repeatedly backing away from his own arguments. He talked, for example, of the "aristocracy of public service" in the United Kingdom but found it "understandable" that Canada had witnessed a different development. He recalled Mr. Mackenzie King's argument that increases should not take place until after an election. But he failed to endorse it. He recalled Mr. Drew's successive demands on another occasion that the matter be considered by a royal commission or by a special committee. He found particular merit in the latter suggestion but, when challenged by Mr. Pearson, he refused to recommend such a reference.

At one point the Conservative leader offered an observation that the late Mr. Leacock might have envied. He praised members for greeting the prime minister's remarks with "reserve and self-control" and for applauding only the reference to pensions for members' widows. As a number of members have been noticeably apprehensive about public reaction to this measure, it would have been astonishing, to say the least, if they had greeted the glad tidings with joyous shouts and cascades of parliamentary paper.

Angry Retort

On the other hand, Mr. Diefenbaker infuriated the small parties and brought an angry retort from Mr. Fisher with the comment, "I realize too that if this legislation were delayed until after the next election, I guess we would not get it through at all, because there are members in some of the parties who would not feel constrained to support the government until such time as another election took place."

The essence of the opposition leader's argument appeared to be this: "Increases were justified for the reasons advanced by Mr. Pearson, but the proposed increases were too large. It was also a mistake to pay additional allowances (of $4,000) to the leaders of parties numbering more than 12 members because this was at variance with British tradition and would lead to a "multiplication and proliferation of parties in the years ahead."

But ever since 1921 we have had at least three and usually four parties in the House without any such temptation. Experience suggests that they usually come into being outside rather than inside Parliament. It is possible that time will confirm Mr. Diefenbaker's judgment but it appears the general view at present that he was chasing spectres.

Some members would certainly have preferred a simpler bill. There are those, for example, who feel that their constituents will be more easily persuaded of the wisdom of increased indemnities than of the extension of the tax-exemption privilege. It may also be a criticism that the House was given no indication of the total cost to the treasury in advance of Monday's crucial division. This was not strictly necessary because the matter will, no doubt, be discussed in the normal way during committee examination.

Apart from Mr. Diefenbaker, only the veteran NDP member Mr. Herridge offered critical comments on the bill. Mr. Herridge holds to the old-fashioned view that there should always be "an element of sacrifice" in public service. But his opposition was tempered by a recognition of the necessities of younger members. He was not prepared to condemn increases but was bound by a personal pledge, to his constituents not to support indemnities and allowances exceeding $15,000. This explains his otherwise curious abstention on the vote.

Well Bowled Ma'am

By TERRY COLEMAN

"IT OUGHT," said the seasoned cricket reporter, in the press box at the Oval on Saturday, "to be all St. Trinians." (The appalling boarding-school created by Mr. Ronald Searle, the comic artist), but it isn't. It wasn't either. England were playing Australia on the first day of the third Test match, and the players were all women. But it was an authentic test: the Australians threw in like Australians and England dropped their catches.

Some things, of course, were strange—the nylon-draped dressing room, the good-luck cards with pussy-cats on them propped up in the window, and the moment after tea when the two teams lined up to be presented to Miss Anna Neagle. Many Surrey members watched in frigid silence as Miss Neagle's stiletto heels sank into the turf where the great once trod. Oh my Hayward and my Hobbs, long ago.

Afterwards Miss Neagle explained that she loved cricket, that she had spent the first day of her honeymoon at Lord's watching the Indians play, and that she was still a member of the Women's Cricket Association though she hadn't played for years.

Decent Cricket

Out in the middle it was decent cricket, and deserved better than empty stands half way round the ground. The reporters who were at first just curious ("When they appeal, do you think it will be shrill or gruff?") began to nod and look at each other as the Australians, time after time, threw in full toss and low to the wicket keeper. When Mary Duggan, captain of England, hesitated in the forlorn, one reporter muttered it would be a crime if she didn't get her fifty; and when she was in her nineties he yelled her on to the century. She got her hundred, at which every member of the Australian team rushed up as if to embrace her and then soberly shook hands.

The first women's tests weren't played until 1904-05, but women's cricket has a recorded history going back to July 25, 1745, when 11 maids of Hambleton, dressed all in white, beat 11 maids of Bramley by 127 notches to 119 and the girls "bowled, batted, ran, and caught as well as most men could do in that game."

Cricket found its way into the great country houses, and in 1777 the beautiful Miss Elizabeth Burrell, top scorer in both innings of a game with some other ladies of quality, created an irresistible impression on the eighth Earl of Hamilton, who fell in love on the spot and married her, it is said, before the next cricket season.

Another woman cricketer, Miss Ridsdale, became the wife of Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister. This, she wrote, improved her game: "It was in the year that I was married that I made my best batting average, 62 runs for the season."

Round Arm

Women have also contributed to the game's development. Miss Christina Willes, who flourished in the early 19th century, found she couldn't bowl lob balls because of her crinolines and thereupon, according to one source, devised the round arm style. And Mrs. Grace not only bowled the three Graces, but coached them all—E. M., G. F. and the mighty W. G.

Probably the only time women have played as professionals was in the 1880s when two teams toured the country playing exhibition matches. A matron acted as chaplaine, and the players' skirts were weighted with lead. "Today's skirts don't appear to be weighted, but they must end not more than a regulation four inches above the knee."

Cricket had generally been a game for gentlemen and still is, though some players insist it is becoming less so. Most players learn their game at certain schools (Miss Cecelia Robinson, one of England's most successful players in recent years, is a mistress at Roedean) and if a woman is to play regularly she needs some money and leisure. A player selected for the last English tour of Australia had to find about £400 and be able to take seven months' leave.

SWEET TONGUE

Visitors to churches here and abroad are often astonished by a peculiar piece of carving or an unusual picture in stained glass. . . . A bishop holding a bee-hive does not necessarily mean that he kept bees. It is more likely that he was renowned for eloquence—like St. Ambrose, whose mother is said to have dreamed before his birth that he swallowed a bee. This, far from having the customary effect upon small boys, made him honey-mouthed. Another is St. Leonard of Clairvaux, known as the Doctor Mellifluus.

The Shattered Monolith: World Interest Has Now Shifted to the Fragments

By Edward Crankshaw, From London

WE speak about the shattering of the Communist monolith; but the monolith as we saw it never in fact existed: it was all done by mirrors. We have also used the image of two rival Communist Romes. This, too, is misleading. There is now no Rome at all.

The focus of interest has shifted from Moscow and Peking to the individual fraternal parties all over the world, with more to come. We know so little about them, and each has to be studied in the context of its own historical and geographical setting and tackled accordingly.

For example, we know that the Brazilian party which, though small, used to be so brilliantly organized under that most intelligent and perceptive of Communist leaders, Prestes, is now split right down the middle. We know that his rival, Gracioso, is leading a militant pro-Chinese wing, which has now captured half the party, on a rabidly anti-American ticket.

But we do not know to what extent Gracioso is a genuine fanatic, a convinced believer in Mao's Road, recoiling in righteous indignation from the sophisticated gradualism of Prestes and looking for support from the angry, impatient, the desperate, who see their only hope in violent action soon—or to what extent he is using China as a stalking-horse in a personal bid to steal power from Prestes. If it comes to that, we do not know whether Prestes himself, so skillfully arguing Khrushchev's line, regards the Russian comrades as the guardians of the true faith or as a bunch of Gringo barbarians useful to Brazilian or Latin American Communism because they have money to burn and an armament that frightens the Americans.

The gentleness and sophistication of Prestes's speech at the Moscow conference of November 1960, warmly supporting Khrushchev against the Chinese, was in itself a reproach to the crudity of Russian methods.

And, at the same meeting, Jesu Faria of Venezuela, who also supported the Russians, nevertheless indicated, clearly that his respect for Khrushchev stopped well this side of idolatry. He supported Moscow because he thought Khrushchev's policies in the atomic age more intelligent than Mao's, and particularly because the Chinese had been actively engaged in trying to undermine his own authority over the Venezuelan party (oil again?).

He also thought, however, that many of the speakers at that meeting had been altogether too uncritical of the Soviet comrades, who, he said, had themselves committed many errors. He expressed the hope that the Russians would be cleverer in future—clever enough to devise a system which put an end to inter-party quarrelling and prevent future schisms in the Communist ranks.

This little speech, which, like most of the others at that meeting, has never been published, was a storm signal. No Venezuelan, nobody at all indeed, could have stood up in the Kremlin in Stalin's day and offered remarks of that kind. But these very remarks were a forerunner of much more to come.

The Cuban adventure last autumn did not at all redound to Khrushchev's credit. If the Chinese had been more subtle and had made at least some attempt to present their invasion of India as anything but an exercise in old-fashioned power politics, had disguised their eagerness to do a Realpolitik deal with Pakistan, had shown more concern for the fraternal comrades in South East Asia and less for Chinese nationalists in that area, had resisted the temptation to boast of their contempt for the nuclear threat, which frightened most comrades, like all of us, out of their wits, they might have made much more headway. But they did not.

It is probably not too much to say that for a whole variety of reasons, the general feeling among Communists in most countries about Russia and China in "A plague on both your houses!"

Dismay, exasperation, sometimes contempt, are felt by many Communist leaders who were not privileged to be born Russian or Chinese in face of the imbecilities and crudities displayed by the heirs of Ivan the Terrible and Confucius.

In purely practical terms this quarrel, or the way it has been conducted, has alienated fellow-travellers and the eager members of "front" organizations all over the world, has bored to distraction the faithful who are trying to get on with the march towards the millennium.

In intellectual terms, it has plumbed depths of mental squalor which makes the flesh of the more intelligent Communists creep. In political terms it has indicated that the senior partners of the socialist camp are more interested in their own power struggle than in the future of the movement.

In the last resort, and for the time being, Russia will win when it comes to commanding the allegiance of the party as a whole. Russia has the money, the power and the prestige. It has yet to be proved that Mao's solicitude for the weaker brethren is any deeper than Khrushchev's: it is easy to appear solicitous when you have nothing much to give.

Khrushchev, though an inferior dialectician to Mao and his worshippers, has much more good sense. He is closer to the age we live in, and he is being dragged ever closer by the demands of fraternal comrades, such as Palmiro Togliatti of Italy, who actually lives in it.

With his very vivid sense of the calamitous nature of nuclear war (no doubt the Chinese are just as afraid, but they dare not say so) he appeals directly to all those good comrades who do not want to be blown up.

On a lower level, he is greatly beloved by many smaller parties, such as the Costa Rican and the Greek, who know very well that their only hope of physical survival is to lie very low for some time to come.

He is one, also, with those parties who either rule or inhabit countries with comparatively advanced economies. In the latter case, though they may diligently heave away (as in Britain) to make things difficult for the present masters, they would nevertheless prefer to live as destructive minorities in a comfortable land than inherit a ruin.

More than this, Russia really has the last word, if she cares to say it, with parties which would naturally gravitate, one would say, to China. She has, for example, more to give to Laos (if she cares to give it) than the Chinese.

But what does it all amount to? And where is the central leadership on the march to revolution? Khrushchev may reassure himself with Leninist slogans, but as far as the foreseeable future is concerned he knows very well that he is interested above all in consolidating Soviet power and security, avoiding war, and augmenting the prosperity of his country. There is no dynamism here.

China cannot begin to pretend to leadership of a world which embraces Europe and North America.

Other parties, though they may value Moscow's support, have their own problems. When the Swedish Communist leader, Hagberg, announces to the Moscow conference that the concept of the dictatorship of the proletariat is outdated and that Swedish Communists are determined to co-operate with the Swedish Social Democrats, whom they see as a true workers' party, the writing is on the wall (this was a secret speech among Communists, not an essay in propaganda).

When Mr. John Gollan of London, at the same meeting, reads the Chinese a lecture in which he explains that they have no conception of British ways and no true appreciation of the strength of the British labor movement, he is also warning the Russians.

As for Italy, Togliatti and Longo are already far out in a deeply heretical move towards "reformism." They are meeting with opposition within their own party, but it is not at all clear whether the "Chinese" wings of Padua and elsewhere are motivated by admiration for Mao or dislike of Signor Togliatti.

These uncertainties are legion. The only certain thing is that the proper way to approach the Communist menace is to pay less attention to Russia and China and a great deal more attention to the discontents in our own midst. Each country which feels it can produce a better solution than the Communist solution should exert itself to the utmost to prove that it can—and helping, even at a sacrifice, the weaker brethren.

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA — In the game of party politics as played on Parliament Hill black is white and white is black and good is bad and bad is good and true is false and false is true.

As you see, the rules are simple. Once you've mastered them you're away.

The great gasp of relief across the nation when the U.S. agreed to exempt Canadian securities from the main provisions of the Kennedy capital export tax is proof that this action is exactly what everybody hoped for.

Everybody? Well, not quite. John Diefenbaker says that the way the U.S. came to Canada's economic rescue, by giving President Kennedy discretionary power to exempt new Canadian securities from the tax, is bad.

It gives the president a veto, he says, over expansion of the Canadian economy, and that "is not in keeping with the sovereignty of this nation."

If the U.S. hadn't eased the application of the tax to Canadian securities, it would have been economically disastrous for our country and politically disastrous for the Liberal government. If there is one achievement above all others to the government's credit, it is the rapprochement with the U.S. achievement at Hyannis Port. For the period between the imposition of the tax and its amelioration, Diefenbaker exulted that the Spirit of Hyannis Port had gone down the drain. I predict he will continue to say so, or perhaps to deny it ever existed except as a trick by Kennedy to get a new grip on Canada's economy and sovereignty.

One of the budget's main purposes is to encourage economic expansion. Cheap

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

A Better Mousetrap

WASHINGTON (UPI)—According to a magazine article published this week, the United States is experiencing an invention explosion of even greater magnitude than the population explosion.

Our old Yankee ingenuity is sparking new ideas so fast that the U.S. patent office can't keep up with them. At last count, it was almost 200,000 applications behind.

To realize how really big the backlog is, one must consider a statement made by patent commissioner David L. Ladd in an interview with U.S. News and World report.

Ladd said the problem could not be solved by hiring more employees.

I never thought I'd live to see the day when a bureaucrat would make a statement like that.

It shook me up so much that I stopped by the patent office and picked up a copy of its weekly list of new inventions. I could immediately understand why Ladd was feeling desperate.

During that one week alone, his office issued more than 900 patents, the scope and variety of which would make your head spin, except for a few inventions that apparently were designed to make your head stop spinning.

West

Here are just a few of the devices that were awarded patents in that period:

A disposal paint brush; a machine for skinning fish; a apparatus for measuring the length of trousers; a retractable awning that you can run out over your auto's windshield when it starts to rain.

A self-cleaning ash tray; a hair brush that is grounded so that it removes static electricity from hair; a serving spoon that you can eat when you have finished serving.

There was even a new, though not necessarily better, mousetrap. If my understanding of the way it works is correct, it lures a mouse into a container where he eats so much cheese he becomes too fat to get back out again.

I assume the mouse stays there until the fatty diet and lack of exercise raises his cholesterol content to the point where he suffers a fatal heart attack.

To my mind, however, nothing points up the complexity of modern life so much as a new type of brassiere invented by a lady of Bridgeport, Conn.

This device is described as having seven segments, one being "a pair of shoulder straps, each connected at its forward end to said upwardly directed apex of a respective transition member and connected at its rearward end to the upper edge of said band at a point adapted to be disposed at the back of the wearer."

All of that just so some doll can look good in a sweater. No wonder the patent office is swamped.

Ramblers Need Regular Pruning

Rambler roses gave much joy to our grandmothers in their gardens but I wonder how many of them got around to doing the necessary pruning.

Can you imagine women in the voluminous skirts and sleeves of the late 1800s coping with a tangled mass of ramblers?

Today we are better equipped — but perhaps not so well protected.

However, ramblers must be pruned regularly or they become a tremendous mass of unproductive growth. After a few years of this, the only way back to an orderly existence is by chopping off the whole tangle about a foot above the soil level and starting all over again but remembering this time the law of pruning.

Ramblers include Crimson Rambler introduced in 1895, and Dorothy Perkins, who made her debut in 1901. These bloom on canes grown the previous season, so that pruning consists of cutting out all the old canes each year immediately after flowering.

When the old wood has been cleared away, the new canes can be sorted out, and as many as are required for covering the allotted space should be tied to the supporting fence or trellis.

Large flowered climbers seem to need little pruning, for they flower successfully on old wood. The climbing hybrid teas such as Dr. van Fleet and Dream Girl need only the dead ends of canes removed in early spring.

Shortening of canes, or the removal of canes which are not needed in the scheme of things, can be done at the early spring pruning time.

Rambler roses are frequently treated as the poor relations of the rose family, and even the scraps of nourishment from the hybrid tea beds are denied to them.

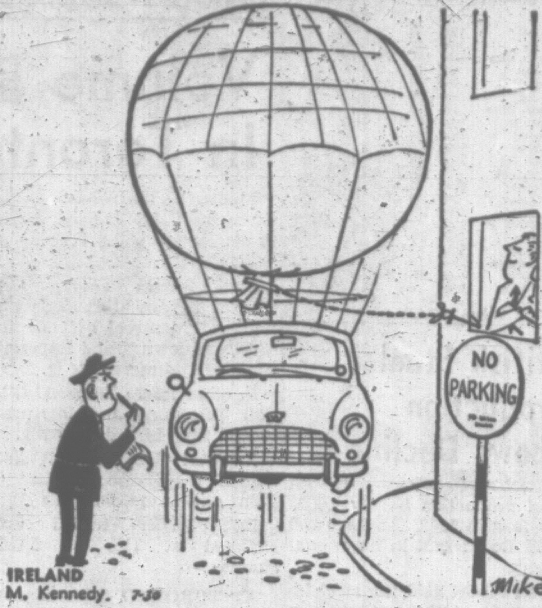

The truth is that they like a good drink and a meal just as much as their better-bred relatives. This can be administered right after pruning, in the form of a mulch of rotted compost and damp peat moss into which is sprinkled a good handful of a balanced fertilizer to each plant.

Follow this with a soaking, either by open hose or a canvas or plastic soaker hose, and do it now while the month of August is still young.

Liberals Maintain Curbs on CS Hiring

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government plans to maintain curbs on civil service hiring imposed last year by the former Conservative government as part of the foreign exchange austerity drive.

Robert Prittie (NDP-Burnaby-Richmond) was informed in a written Commons reply Wednesday that special relief may be granted from time to time but that "present restrictions on recruiting will be retained throughout the remainder of the current fiscal year, after which time the policy will be further reviewed."

The fiscal year ends next March 31.

Last March a minor change

S. Africa Boycotts Meet

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Two African representatives charged South Africa Wednesday with setting up a police state on Nazi lines. South Africa in turn accused other African countries of preparing to use force against her.

The charges were made in the United Nations Security Council as it started discussion of South Africa's "apartheid" race policies.

Foreign Minister John Karefa-Smart of Sierra Leone, one of four representatives of the 32 African countries that requested the debate, called on the council to "compel" South Africa to abandon apartheid by imposing an embargo on arms and oil shipments.

South Africa's delegation was not officially present. Her accusations were contained in a letter from Foreign Minister Eric Louw refusing an invitation to take part in the meeting.

Louw's letter, read at the opening of the meeting, said South Africa had repeatedly explained at the UN that its policies were "designed to lead to self-government, friendship and co-operation by and among the different races, each in its own area."

It was well known, he said, that "this is judged to be the most sensible and practical method of removing racial discrimination."

Volume Bogs Down In Toronto Trading

Volume on the Toronto stock exchange today bogged down to its lowest point in over a year.

AIRLINES CARRY MORE

OTTAWA (CP)—A 16-per-cent rise in airline passengers last year brightened the earnings picture for Canadian air carriers. A preliminary 1962 report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Wednesday said the number of revenue passengers increased to 5,268,799 from 4,550,897 in 1961.

Air carriage of revenue goods rose 3.7 per cent to 236,561,782 pounds from 228,074,376.

U.S. Steel Profits Soar

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp., the largest steelmaker in the United States, reported Tuesday second-quarter earnings of $73,200,000—the highest since it cleared $80,900,000 in the second quarter of 1960.

The profits were nearly 2 1/2 times the $29,900,000 during the first quarter, a 15-year low for the period.

The earnings amounted to $1.23 a share.

In the second quarter of 1962 earnings were $40,200,000 or 63 cents a share.

British Steel Production Shows Decline

LONDON (AP)—British steel production fell by 1,600,000 tons in 1962, the Iron and Steel Board said in its annual report.

The report said the steel industry is unlikely to show a great improvement this year. It forecast no substantial recovery in output can be expected "until the economy is expanding at a satisfactory rate."

Steel production for 1962 was 20,490,000 tons. The report said the industry was working at 74.1 per cent of capacity.

AT TORONTO Consolidated

Northland rose 6 to 42 1/2 cents in speculative mines as Norlex and New Senator fell 1 and 2 1/2 cents to 38 and 19 1/2 cents, respectively, and Triba dropped 11 cents to $1.99.

Medallion declined 10 to $3.30 in western oils.

AT NEW YORK among

Canadian issues, Aluminum Ltd., Canadian Pacific and International Nickel were up 1/4, and Distillers Seagrams and Walker Gooderham lost 1/4.

Prices on the American exchange were mixed in quiet trading. Presto and Jupiter were down 1/16 and Scurry Rainbow Oil was up 1/16.

AT MONTREAL stocks

slumped again following a noon rally on the stock exchange today. Trading was fairly active.

AT LONDON interest in the stock market was at a low level today and prices were trendless.

Gilt-edged were featured with a further all-around advance, closing 5-16 better in places. Dollar stocks were mostly lower.

Among Canadian issues,

International Nickel lost 1/4 at 110 1/4, while Algoma, Hiram Walker, and Consolidated Mining also lost ground. Imperial Oil was firm.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light. Mid-West Copper was up 1/16 while Western Mines was down at $3.40. Utica dropped one cent to .32.

U.S. Bank Gains Half Interest In Mercantile

NEW YORK (CP)—The First National City Bank has announced the conclusion of arrangements for it to acquire a 50-per-cent interest in the Mercantile Bank of Canada.

The Mercantile, wholly owned by the Rotterdamse Bank of Rotterdam, Holland, is the smallest of eight chartered banks in Canada.

The deal is subject to approval of the United States Federal Reserve Board.

Founded in 1953, the Mercantile bank at May 31 this year held capital funds of more than $5,000,000 and total resources of $90,651,000. Its head office is in Montreal, with branches in Toronto and Vancouver.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Bank's Action Hit Province's Reputation

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Announcement by the Royal Bank this morning that it was resuming normal handling of B.C. Electric and B.C. Hydro parity bonds, after a brief suspension Wednesday afternoon, brought sighs of relief from the investment community.

The bank's original announcement was greeted with incredulity by investment men who were quick to point out that despite any legal quibbles over the validity of the issuing body, the bonds were still guaranteed by the province.

Actually the Royal Bank's action caused scarcely a ripple in the market where the parties continued to trade at a slight premium.

But a few dealers were nevertheless a little apprehensive and conceded that it would not take too much to set off a run on the bonds. If any other large financial institutions had followed the Royal's move, public confidence could have been undermined.

"This shows how dangerous the government's policy of issuing such large amounts of call money can be," one investment dealer commented.

"The government is vulnerable to every sort of rumor, or even misguided action by bankers and others, through its reluctance to go into the long-term market," he said.

Even though the action by the Royal Bank was decided on locally and was not, apparently, concurred in by head office, it was damaging to the province's reputation.

It will be the fact that legality of the issue was brought into question which will be remembered in financial circles abroad and not the decision to resume trading.

And it adds impetus to the growing feelings in local financial circles that the government's stubborn refusal to negotiate a settlement is nothing less than suicidal so far as B.C.'s financial reputation is concerned.

While it is recognized that there are important constitutional issues involved in Chief Justice Lett's decision which the province must have clarified in higher courts, there is no reason why the ownership of the B.C. Electric cannot be settled immediately on terms satisfactory to all concerned.

The government would like people to believe that over-subscription of the latest parity issue is an indication of confidence in B.C.'s financial affairs.

Many citizens of B.C. may actually believe this, but the financial community certainly knows better. It knows that any government forced to raise money continually through 5 per cent demand notes must be in some kind of difficulty.

Slight lowering of net profits for the half-year ended June 30 compared with the same period last year was reported by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. chairman J. V. Clynne.

This was due to a higher volume of sales of goods on which there is normally a lower margin of profit, along with a decline in newspaper shipments and higher production costs at Powell River.

Net profit for the half was $17,538,802 compared with $18,575,685 last year. Net sales were up at $164,800,000 from last year's first half of $161,000,000.

Mr. Clynne said market outlook for the balance of the year was favorable with demand for most products good and prices "reasonably satisfactory."

Over the long term, he said, added costs to the forest industry will result from imposition of federal taxes on building materials and production machinery.

Following a very poor first quarter at Dominion Tar and Chemical, the second quarter showed a good recovery.

President W. N. Hall said sales for the three months ended June 30 were up two per cent and net profit of $5,475,000 was close to last year's revised profit for the same period of $5,602,000.

For the first half, sales gained one per cent but net profit of $7,785,639 or 52 cents per common share was down from the revised figure of $8,755,300 or 60 cents per share.

The Heat Is on the Mafia—Again

ROME (AP)—Nearly 425 out of the secret society, alleged members of the dread Authorities also are stopping cars at roadblocks to check the flight of gangsters.

In Rome, a parliamentary commission has completed the first phase of its recommendations for new laws to wipe out the Mafia: protection; racketeering of violence and vengeance that many Sicilians still call "the honorable society."

And in Milan police have been trying to persuade a gravely wounded victim of a Mafia shooting to break the old code of "omerta"—silence and name names.

The drive against the Mafia has lost none of its momentum. But many who have known the "honorable society" for years expressed doubts that the crack-down would prove any more effective in the long run than did the threats of Sicily's foreign conquerors of the wrath of Mussolini.

slipping back to their quiet lives in cities and hamlets, some even fading off the island to hideouts in continental Italy.

They count confidently on being able to come back when the heat is off—as they always have done during the two to three centuries in which the Mafia has been in existence in Sicily.

"The honorable society" took its name centuries ago when it formed to protect Sicilian peasants from the hard heel of foreign conquerors who ruled the big Mediterranean island one after another.

But protection led gradually to payoff, and payoff to extortion and extortion to violence, kidnapping and murder.

OBEY OR DIE
Even now many Sicilians say:

"There are three governments in Italy: The National government in Rome, the regional government in Palermo—and the Mafia. Of the three it is the Mafia that you must obey, or die."

KEEP OLD LAWS
The parliamentary commission in Rome has prepared a preliminary draft of its expected recommendations on new laws, but unofficial reports on the commission's work say nothing really new has been drafted; that there are only recommendations for tougher application of existing laws.

The commission is said to be ready to propose that the time police can hold a prisoner without charge be extended to 20 days from the present seven.

But the commission is reported widely divided over what to do about stiffening the regulations on granting private licenses to own or carry firearms.

Almost every rural Sicilian is a hunter and has his hunting guns. And almost every Sicilian owns or carries a gun usually with licence "for his own protection."

In the past, he has needed it. And in the future most of them think they still will.

COMBINED holiday and business trip to Europe is planned by Health and Welfare Minister Judy LaMour as soon as the Commons rises for the summer recess. She expects to meet with her counterparts in various European governments to discuss pension programs and other health and welfare matters.

TELL-TALE LABELS OFF
NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury has charged the American Ball Bearing Corporation of Brooklyn and two of its top officials of violating the U.S. Tariff Act by removing "made in Japan" labels from 1,000,000 bearings and selling them as U.S. products. The indictment handed up Wednesday named William B. Miller, 47, president, and Leo L. Lowy, 73, general manager.

14,000 BOY SCOUTS GATHER IN GREECE

Ritual Will Open Jamboree

MARATHON, Greece (AP)—A traditional boy scout torch-light ritual, magnified to a mammoth scale, inaugurates the 11th World Scout Jamboree tonight on the historic Plains of Marathon.

More than 6,000 visitors were expected to join 14,000 scouts from 76 nations to see Crown Prince Constantine of Greece open the 11-day jamboree of games, displays, competitions and tests of scouting skill.

After the opening address by the prince, who is Greece's chief scout, a scout chosen at random lights a torch from a special fire and hands it down a line of his comrades.

At the end of the relay the torch ignites the kyllix, or Olympia goblet, and the vast gathering sends the strains of jamboree songs echoing across the 2,000-acre encampment area on the plains where outnumbered Greeks routed Persian invaders in 490 B.C.

More than 400 scouts from across Canada, led by deputy chief scout L. H. Nicholson of Ottawa, former RCMP commissioner, are attending the jamboree.

Paul Prefers To Forget This Record

By Associated Press

Put Paul Foytack's feat high on the list of baseball's dubious distinctions.

The Los Angeles Angels' righthander became the first pitcher in major league history to give up four straight home runs in a single inning Wednesday night—an unwanted achievement if ever there was one.

Foytack was bombarded in the second game of a double-header at Cleveland when Woodie Held, pitcher Pedro Ramos, Tito Francona and Larry Brown socked successive homers in the sixth inning. The rapid-fire barrage climaxed a night of long-range hitting for the Indians as they swept the Angels, 1-0 and 9-5.

The four consecutive homers in an inning set an American League record and tied the major league mark established by Milwaukee Braves in June, 1961. But the Braves hit their four in a row against two different Cincinnati pitchers—so Foytack's feat is a first.

HIT SEVEN HOMERS

All told, the Indians whacked seven homers, in the double-header. Fred Whitfield won the opener with a shot in the eighth inning and also hit a grand slam in the second game, and Ramos hit a pair in the nightcap.

Also in the AL, Tom Tresh's homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth gave New York's first-place Yankees a 3-2 decision over Kansas City Athletics. Chicago White Sox remained eighth games out of first, beating Washington Senators 5-2, Baltimore Orioles won against Detroit Tigers, 2-1, and Minnesota Twins tripped Boston 6-3.

MEMORABLE QUOTES

Rockne Doused Spirit of Irish

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the most memorable quotes ever uttered have been produced in the fields of sports. Here are some of the better ones that came to mind:

Knut Rockne, the old Notre Dame coach, was widely known as probably the most vigorous half-time pep talker of his era, perhaps of all time. He once took his Fighting Irish football team into a new stadium that had been constructed in the mid-west, one he hadn't visited before. And the Irish had their troubles in the first half.

At halftime back in the dressing room, Rockne lectured his charges long and loud, raising them to a fever pitch.

"And now," he wound up and pointed dramatically at a door at the far end of the room, "I want you to go out that door to victory."

The team charged through the door. It was the wrong door. It led immediately into an indoor swimming pool. Very wet.

An Ivy league football coach, faced with the prospect of playing Princeton during the era of All-American Dick Kazmaier, sent his head scout out to look over the tail-back the week before.

GIVES SHORT REPORT

"Don't tell me what he does and can do," the coach said. "Just tell me how we can keep from being hurt by this guy. Just tell me how to keep him from scoring."

So the scout watched Kazmaier in action, watched him run for three touchdowns and pass for two more. He wired back the shortest scouting report on record: "Cancel."

There are hundreds of beautiful quotes that have come from 'boxing. Probably the best belongs to Joe Louis.

Bill Conn, preparing for a title fight with Louis, announced his fight plan.

"I'm going to stick and move, stick and move. He'll never catch me."

Louis was informed of the Conn plan and said:

"He can run but he can't hide."

UTTERS TOUCHING LINE

Possibly the most touching line was uttered by Lou Gehrig, the Yankees' Hall of Fame first baseman who was forced into an early retirement by a fatal disease.

He was given a "day" at Yankee Stadium after his retirement and just months before his death. He knew he was dying. So did the crowd of 70,000.

After the ceremonies, Gehrig stepped to the microphone and said:

"I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the earth."

Joe Kapp will miss game with Roughies

VANCOUVER (CP) — For the first time since he has been playing Canadian football quarterback Joe Kapp will not dress for a game involving his team.

Coach Dave Skrien of the British Columbia Lions announced Wednesday night that Kapp has not fully recovered from a muscle spasm near his spine and will not play in tonight's exhibition Canadian Football League game with Ottawa Rough Riders.

Kapp, approaching his fifth season in Canadian football, has dressed for every one of the more than 80 games played by his team—either Calgary Stampede or Lions.

Lions will also go without offensive tackle Lonnie Dennis, still suffering from a pulled hamstring suffered two weeks ago in an exhibition game in Toronto.

Quarterbacking chores will be handled by Mel Melin, Earl Keeley and Peter Ohler.

CASSIUS ALREADY BUSY

Promoter Chris Dundee said Wednesday he and millionaire Bill MacDonald will guarantee a $1,000,000 live gate for a Sonny Liston - Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight at Miami Beach early in 1964.

Dundee said Convention Hall, which seats 18,000, would be price-scaled for a $1,350,000 house with the first five ring-side rows going for $150 a seat. The cheapest seat would be $15.

Liston would get 40 per cent of the live gate and Clay 25 per cent.

"We are not interested in the closed circuit telecast," Dundee said, "just the live gate. They could make their own deal with the closed circuit people."

The offer may be attractive to Liston whose plans to stage the match in Philadelphia Sept. 30 got a jolt Wednesday when the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission rejected an application for a promoter's license from Liston's Intercontinental Promotions, Incorporated.

The commission acted after receiving an opinion from state Attorney-General Walter E. Alsdorff that granting such a license would be improper as long as Liston is one of the match promoters.

Alessandroni said a 1955 law prohibits promoters from having any direct or indirect financial interest in a boxer.

Liston is listed as a 47 per cent stockholder in Intercontinental, a Pennsylvania corporation.

The commission said, however, it would meet with Robert and James Nilon, who now hold an exclusive contract for Liston's services, to discuss a proposal that they secure promoters' licenses either as individuals or as a partnership, excluding Liston.

While Liston was busy trying to promote the match, Clay signed a recording contract guaranteed to promote himself. He will make his first album—"I Am the Greatest"—next week.

MAN-SIZED JOB

Despite mighty tug, six-year-old Mike Merritt learns its a job for big fellows as he tries to pull Detroit Lions' rookie Lucian Reeberg to feet at National Football League club's training camp.

Reeberg, a 305-pounder, is bidding for a tackle berth and has been advised by coaches to get weight down to more reasonable figures. (AP Wirephoto)

OPEN PLAYOFF ... HERE TONIGHT

Tacoma Lads Stingy

You'll have to scan a lot of territory before you find a stingier baseball club than the Western Washington Colt League champions.

Representing Western Washington at Royal Athletic Park tonight will be Lake Insurance, the top club from Tacoma's Pierce County Colt League and a talented group of youngsters who just don't believe in giving away runs.

All this season, manager Ed Handenbrook's Tacoma slickers have yielded on three runs, according to advance reports.

They were just about letter-perfect in playoff battles, winning by scores of 11-0, 2-0, 5-0, 4-0 and 5-0. The last two efforts were against the Seattle champs and victory sent Tacoma into the Colt League sectional final.

Against them in the best-of-three series at Athletic Park will be the Victoria Colt League All-Stars, who have also been posting some fancy figures on scoreboards.

The Victorians collected the provincial crown at Coquitlam this week with 12-1 and 6-1 conquests, of the Surrey-Delta All-Stars.

Both clubs have displayed power at the plate, finesse in the field and punch in pitching and that's the way it stands as they await tonight's opening game in the best-of-three sectional series.

Games tonight and Friday will start at 6. If a third game is necessary, it will be played Saturday morning.

Stamps Grind Out Win; Wylie Squelches Argos

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary halfback Harvey Wylie squelched a last-stand Toronto Argonaut scoring attempt Wednesday night as Calgary Stampede sweated to an 8-3 win in a Canadian Football League exhibition game.

It was Calgary's third consecutive exhibition victory of the season.

The 16,000 fans roared as Wylie, voted the CFL's top Canadian player last year, intercepted a pass by Argonauts' newly-acquired quarterback Jackie Parker as only seconds remained.

Parker was thrown into the action with 26 seconds remaining and play at the Calgary 12-yard line in a final attempt to gain a win.

Parker, obtained by Toronto earlier this year from Edmonton Eskimos in return for five Toronto players, stayed on the bench until the final attempt.

Toronto started with quarterback Tom Maudlin and Lynn Amodeo, but relied most heavily on Don Fuell, who turned in a competent display of running and throwing.

Argos scored only once, early in the fourth quarter with a field goal kicked by halfback George Fleming.

Stampeder veteran quarterback Eagle Day scored a touchdown in the second on a seven-yard run around the right end. Larry Robinson converted.

The other point came on a single by end Jim Furlong in the third.

Argos came out strong, but the Stampeder powerhouse of fullback Earl Lunsford and halfback Jim Dillard forced them to retreat. Eagle Day stood out in the passing department.

Stampede's advance in the second came on Day's sure-fire passes to Dillard and Lovell Coleman for a gain of 11 yards. Day carried the ball the remaining seven yards for his touchdown.

MAKES GOOD EFFORT

Fuell kept up a good effort, his pass to George Fleming in the second quarter bringing Argonauts from the 14 to 45-yard line. Argonaut quarterback piled up 177 yards compared with Calgary's 117.

Toronto moved in fast on Stampede in the third, but Day teamed up with Conrad Hitchler for the return march.

Stampede completed 70.6 per cent of their passes, compared with Argonauts' average of 52.2. Toronto threw 23 times, and Calgary only 17.

Lunsford had a rushing total of 49 yards while Argonauts' Willie Jones piled up 31. Day made 17 passing attempts while Fuell tried 16.

Bouncing Rocks Hammer Royals

Victoria Jolts Westminister With 12-9 Win

Shamrocks 12, Westminister 9

By DOUG PEDEN

Confidence and ability to bounce back are said to be signs of a champion.

If so, don't sell Victoria Shamrocks short in the upcoming Inter-City Lacrosse League playoffs.

Actually the Rocks still don't rate as serious playoff threats to front-running Vancouver or New Westminister. They haven't displayed the firepower and muscles needed to handle their mainland rivals over a series.

But the Irish were walking with new confidence today and that little item can do wonders.

The confidence was absorbed at Memorial Arena Wednesday night as the Shamrocks pounced from behind down the homestretch like Chateaugay and handed New Westminister a pulse-pounding 12-9 defeat.

In the process they showed more bounce than a box of rubber yo-yos, hustling from behind after a setback that earlier this season would probably have left the Victoria club dejected and defeated.

DON SEPKA CLIPPED

Playing one of their more aggressive games, Shamrocks were nursing a slim 6-5 lead at 12:30 of the second period. Don Sepka, trying to stretch the margin, charged in on the Westminister goal and was floored with a stick beside the right eye.

When Don regained his feet, he charged Bill Wilkes and when the scuffle had subsided, both drew five-minute fighting penalties. Wilkes was also assessed five minutes for drawing blood while Sepka was handed a game misconduct, which doesn't carry a time penalty.

That left the Irish with a manpower edge for five minutes and great expectations of boosting their lead.

Camera Crew Hits Capilano

Television cameras will be whirling this month on two of western Canada's fine golf courses.

And if you think the making of an hour-long TV show is a simple thing, just stop off at Vancouver's Capilano Golf and Country Club next Tuesday and Wednesday to watch the filming of a match scheduled for Shell's "Wonderful World of Golf" series.

A staff of 35 moved in at Capilano Monday and will be around until at least August 8 to make preparations and to film a match between Canadian pros Stan Leonard and George Knudson.

Actual filming is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday and, of course, spectators will be welcome. In fact, some are being paid to ensure people will be in the pictures during each of the day-long sessions.

The club is engaging about 30 men and 20 women as spectators, considering applications until 5 p.m. Friday. For $25, fans must be at rehearsal Monday, 8 a.m. until noon, and at the match both days from 7:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Jasper Park Lodge course gets into the TV act later in the month—August 26 to 30. It will be the scene for "CBC Championship Golf." Participating in the series will be 12 of Canada's top professionals, including Leonard, Knudson, Al Balding and Al Johnston.

Gorge Vale swingers have all had one stroke lopped off their handicaps. The reason is the raising of par at the hilly Gorge course from 72 to 74 and boosting the national rating from 70 to 71.

Par was changed by changing the former par-four eighth and ninth holes to par-fives which gives the course three successive five-shotters, starting with the seventh.

Switching of various tees has added about 30 yards to the course and resulted in the higher national rating.

Official selection of B.C.'s four-member squad for team competition at the Canadian junior championships at Royal Colwood later this month is expected next week. Grapevine reports have it that Gary Smith of Uplands and Vancouver batters Wynne Vollmer and Doug Robb are "in" and several are being considered for the fourth spot, with Colwood's Ricky Kent right in the running.

SHORT CHIPS—Winners in the "Mr. and Mrs." tournament last Sunday at Gorge Vale were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Yardley (low net) and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Naysmith (low gross). . . the Vancouver Island seniors' crown went last week to six-handicapper Richard White from Cowichan Golf Club. White completed the 36-hole route, at Uplands and Colwood, in 157 strokes, Victoria's Pete McIntyre was second. . . Net champion was Ted Williams of Uplands and age-class winners were: Tom Harper (D), Harold Lineham (C), Larry McCooney (B), George Hanson, Nanaimo (A), and George Quincey (AA). . . Keith Swetnam staged a closing surge to beat former Island Open king Joe Briggs in the final for the Uplands handicap crown. Three down with six to play, the 19-year-old Swetnam nipped Briggs at the 19th. . . Ancient landmark is gone from the Uplands course. The old clubhouse, gutted by fire last summer, was bulldozed to the ground Tuesday and is now being burned. Members started using locker room facilities in the new clubhouse last weekend and expected to move into the main part of the building in a few days.

Burnaby Coach Added to Staff For Track Clinic

OTTAWA (CP)—A record number of students has prompted the Royal Canadian Legion to increase its staff to 21 for the national track and field coaching clinic at Guelph, Ont., Aug. 12-20.

Named to the staff today were Don Steen of Burnaby, B.C., Geoffrey Gowan of England and Joseph Mallejac of France.

About 220 students will attend the clinic to be held on the campus of the Ontario Agricultural College. Main objective of the clinic is to develop better coaches for Canada's amateur athletes.

The legion says the annual school now attracts more students than any other in the world. It receives financial assistance from the fitness council.

SCHEDULED SUNDAY

Bench Match Added To Club Rifle Shoot

The wildcatters and hand-loaders of the rifle set will have their innings Sunday in the Victoria Fish and Game Club's second annual championship rifle shoot.

On the schedule this year is a benchrest match for the Tackhammer Trophy, appropriately named since it is expected winners will have to bunch their shots into smaller than one-inch groups at both 100 and 200 yards.

Main event of the shoot is again the three-position match, primarily for sportsmen using hunting weapons. There are no restrictions on sights for this event, but rifles must be of sporting or military types

Mixed rink competition gets under way in the annual Victoria lawn bowling tournament Friday, last day of regular play before the tourney finals Saturday.

Rinks headed by P. Hawes of Victoria West and E. Meyers of Seattle have reached the finals in men's triples competition.

S. Maddalon of Vancouver and P. McClelland of Seattle have advanced to the semi-finals in men's singles.

Starting time for Friday's competition is 9 a.m.

Nicklaus Enters Seattle Tourney

SEATTLE (AP)—Defending Seattle Open golf champion Jack Nicklaus will head the field in the third annual $35,000 event Sept. 11-15, tourney sponsors have announced.

A spokesman said it was not certain whether Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, who played here last year, would enter because of television commitments. But Palmer has said he would try to make the Seattle tourney.

GRAIN EFFECT

BEFORE CHIPPING OR PITCHING TO A GREEN, CHECK FIRST TO SEE WHICH WAY THE GRAIN RUNS. THE GRAIN WILL OFTEN PICTURE THE TYPE OF SHOT TO BE PLAYED.

WHEN THE GRAIN IS WITH YOU, IT WILL OFFER LESS RESISTANCE AND THE BALL WILL ROLL FARTHER. YOU MUST USE A SOFT, MORE DELICATE STROKE.

WITH THE GRAIN AGAINST YOU, A HARD, DEVIANT SHOT IS NECESSARY, SINCE THE GRAIN WILL STOP THE BALL QUICKLY.

WHEN THE GREEN SLOPES TOWARD YOU, AND YOU ARE HITTING INTO THE GRAIN, IF YOU SOMETIMES BETTER TO USE A MORE LOFTED CLUB AND PITCH THE BALL RIGHT UP TO THE MIDDLE, LET THE GRAIN STOP IT UP THERE, RATHER THAN TRY TO PRE-DECT THE EFFECT OF THE GRAIN ON A PITCH-AND-RUN SHOT.

Bob Hayes Great In Relay Effort

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—It must be the greatest 100 meters ever run," said United States track coach Payton Jordan, an old sprinter himself, of the relay anchor leg by Robert Hayes on the opening day of the United States-West Germany meet.

Hayes, a Florida A. and M. sprinter, took the baton five yards back of German anchor man Alfred Hebauff, and blazed past the German to win the 400-metre relay by a yard Wednesday.

The American team was timed in 39.7 seconds.

It was the highlight of the opener of the two-day meet, in which the Americans ran up a 64-2 margin and won eight of the 10 events.

"I have never seen a man take the baton that far back of a good sprinter—and win," Jordan said.

Hayes also beat Hebauff by 1½ yards in the 100 metres in 10.2 seconds.

Braves Option Pair
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves announced Tuesday the option of outfielder Mack Jones and outfielder-first baseman Tommy Aaron to minor league clubs to make room for two players called up Monday.

Palafax Advances
Top-seeded Antonio Palafax headed towards a quarter-final singles clash with Keith Carpenter of Montreal by defeating Bob Sherman of Temple City, Calif., 6-2, 6-2. Carpenter advanced by trimming Vancouver city champion Reider Gets 6-2, 6-4.

Second-ranked Canadian Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., defeated Arredondo 8-6, 6-3. He was to meet Tom Brown, 42, of San Francisco, who won 6-0, 6-2 over Doug Sykes of Los Angeles.

The other quarter-final match pairs Reed Witt, 19, from Larkspur, Calif., against second-seeded foreign player

Connie Mack Recruit Stops League Leaders
Independents and Builders resume their battle for third place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League Saturday. The two teams will start an afternoon doubleheader with only half a game separating them.

Builders involuntarily took over occupancy of the basement again Thursday when Independents dumped league-leading Transports 6-0 at Royal Athletic Park.

Norm Billsborough pitched shut-out ball and a four-kitter, and also chipped in with a two-run double for Independents.

He was brought up from the Connie Mack League for the game and it's a cinch Independents would like him to stay.

Mahaffey Out
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies placed pitcher Art Mahaffey on the disabled list Wednesday. The big righthander, out with a dislocated ankle, is expected to be sidelined about four to six weeks.

Bedard Ousts Fraser; Faces Sizzling Ritter

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Bedard, 31, reigning king of Canadian tennis, wielded a rusty racquet today in his fifth major test of the 63rd Canadian tennis championships.

The Sherbrooke, Que., school teacher retired this year from the Davis Cup team and comes to the national tournament without having played at all in July. He was directing a summer school for students of French.

Today he tackled Horst Ritter of Los Altos, Calif., sixth-seeded on the foreign list, in the quarter-finals of men's singles.

In his only singles match Wednesday, Bedard beat John Fraser of Victoria, 6-2, 6-2.

PULLED UPSET
Fraser, 20, had pulled one of the tournament's major upsets Tuesday when he pinned an 11-9, 6-4 defeat on California's Jerry Cromwell, who won the B.C. singles crown last weekend at Victoria.

Fraser, Canadian junior champion in 1960, who has been working to get his game back in shape after a lengthy layoff, flashed a powerful service against Cromwell, but his efforts appeared to leave him weary for Wednesday's clash with Bedard.

Ritter, meanwhile, has been flying with a brilliant forehand return of serve. Wednesday it crippled Jim Jackson of Portland, Ore., who had previously eliminated Mexico's Panchito Contreras in an evening match. Ritter teamed with schoolmate Rodney Kop to knock off Contreras and Juan Arredondo of Mexico in the doubles.

U.S. Defectors Want To Return From China

HONG KONG (AP) — Lowell D. Skinner of Akron, Ohio, an American prisoner of the Korean War who chose to remain in Communist China, left for home today and said some of the nine U.S. defectors from the Korean conflict still in China also want to go home.

The 34-year-old former army corporal was handed over by the Chinese Communists to British and American Red Cross officials in Hong Kong. He was the 11th to return of the 21 American prisoners who refused repatriation after the Korean armistice in 1953. One other died in China.

Skinner said he would leave for the United States as soon as possible.

"It's about time to go back, and my parents are getting old," he said.

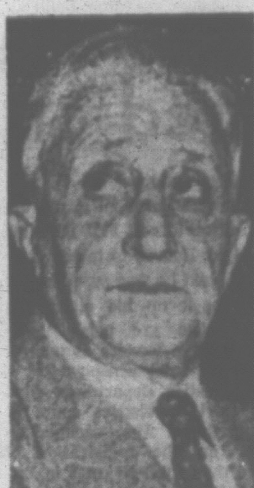

None of the returning prisoners has been prosecuted in civilian U.S. courts, and the army cannot prosecute them because it has discharged them.

Skinner was 22 when he was captured by the Chinese during the Korean War. Since then, he said, he had been working as a lathe operator in the east China city of Tsinan in Shantung province.

NBC-TV's popular "Today" series has been appearing five days a week since Jan. 14, 1952.

Drug Probe Set To Open in Fall

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The 24-member Commons committee on drugs will have authority to launch an all-out inquiry into the distribution, control and prices of drugs when the House returns for its fall sittings.

The committee held its organization meeting today and Dr. Harry Harley (L-Halton), a physician from Oakville, Ont., was expected to be named chairman.

It has the assurances of Health and Welfare Minister Judy LaMarsh that it can mount an inquiry into drug prices and their distribution and control. Miss LaMarsh explained that no direction was being given the committee and it was up to it to determine the scope of its investigations and probe "into anything" in the food and drug field.

PREPARE

The organization meeting was held so that the committee chairman and the steering committee could make preparations for the initial hearings. Arrangements could be made during the summer recess for lining up the witnesses that the committee might wish to hear.

Without debate the House of Commons gave approval this week to establishment of the committee. The enabling resolution empowered the committee to consider and report on the safety and cost of drugs and upon the hazards of food contamination from insecticides, pesticides and other noxious substances.

The restrictive trade practices commission early this year recommended to the former Conservative government that patent protection be abolished for drugs in this country as one means for reducing drug prices. This controversial proposal is expected to be the subject of considerable attention from the committee as it looks into the price aspects of drugs.

Car Driver Hurt In Collision With Tractor

In satisfactory condition at Rest Haven Hospital today is David Ambler, of Vancouver, who suffered a broken leg when his car was in collision with a tractor on the Pat Bay Highway Wednesday.

Police said the tractor, driven by Joseph Saville, 1895 John, was turning left across the highway to John Road.

Mr. Ambler's car hit the front wheel of the tractor, rolled three times and stopped about 150 yards from the point of impact, said police.

Speed limit is 60 miles an hour on that part of the highway.

Mr. Ambler's car was a total wreck. The tractor needs a new wheel.

HOUSEWIFE PILOTS PLANE OVER POLE

BODOE, Norway (AP) — A Blonde Norwegian housewife today became the first woman to complete a flight over the North Pole from Alaska to Norway in a single-engine plane.

Mrs. Ingrid Pedersen, 30, landed her Cessna at this north Norwegian city, completing a flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, with a short stop at Nord, Greenland.

The flight was a woman's holiday for her husband, Einar, chief navigator of the Scandinavian Airlines System. He navigated the plane across the ice cap around the pole—as he has done more than 150 times with airliners.

Europe Firms Bribing Arms Buyers?

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Defence Minister Jim Fouché said today investigations are taking place abroad into allegations of bribery of South African defence department officials over arms supplied to South Africa.

This confirmation came a few hours after Die Burger, the leading nationalist newspaper in Cape Town, reported a full-scale investigation was underway into allegations that "high-ranking" defence department officers had pocketed thousands of pounds from European arms firms.

Fouché dubbed the story "sensational-mongering" but admitted investigations are taking place as a result of allegations of corruption, which have resulted in a commandant, an adjutant deputy officer and a civilian of the defence department appearing in court on bribery charges.

Famed Seaman Dies

COVERACK, Cornwall, England (AP) — Archie Rowe, 58-year-old lifeboatman and hero of scores of sea rescues, died Tuesday night after his fishing boat struck a rock outside the harbor and sank. Rowe's own lifeboat was launched to save him but a helicopter got there first. He died of shock soon afterward. Rowe had been coxswain of the Coverack lifeboat for 29 years.

"OFTEN IMITATED BUT NEVER EQUALLED"

VETERAN DEALERS HONORED

'Motorists Better Served'

Despite the headline attention given gas price increases, the public just doesn't give a hoot. "Not one driver in five can tell you the price of a gallon at any given time. "Half of them don't even look at the pump." That's the considered opinion of a group of veteran service station operators who had a luncheon at the Union Club Wednesday.

The get-together was staged by Home Oil Distributors Ltd to honor seven of the company's retail dealers who have each been over 30 years in business in Greater Victoria.

They are Bill Crust, Ted Stanley, Tom Atkinson, Jack McKibben, Charles Deighton, George Shue and fuel oil dealer Walter Walker.

Slicked up and relaxed after a hard day's work, the guests of honor were being wined and dined by company president George C. Bradley and director and sales manager Neil McNeill.

Pay Own Way On Travels, Youths Told

Two Nanaimo youths, picked up as vagrants by city police, were told in city's magistrate court Wednesday that they had the right idea but forgot one thing—money.

Crown Prosecutor Terry O'Grady said John MacEwen, 20, and James Mooney, 18, had followed "the time honored practice" of seeing their country at first hand.

Their mistake was that they didn't allow themselves any "reserves of capital." They were arrested after eating a meal in a restaurant and then running away without paying for it.

Magistrate William Ostler agreed it is a fine thing for young Canadians to go to know their own country.

But he too emphasized they should be prepared to either work or have a cash reserve. The magistrate put Mooney on probation and bound MacEwen to keep the peace for six months.

THE BAY'S SEMI-ANNUAL home furnishings SALE CONTINUES FRIDAY

Arthur Mayse

This corner threatens at times to become low-brow, a condition which we will try to correct with an occasional Great Thought. So today, I suggest we ponder certain reflections from an educator of note.

"Sentimentality tends to becloud issues and to blind one to the facts of life. One misconception that has stemmed from it is the belief that all children are equal."

"In fact it seems at times that educationists would even deceive the children into believing that they are equal."

"We cannot afford to let those of lesser ability be a constant drag upon those of greater ability."

The author of these musings is Dean S. N. F. Chant, head of the faculty of arts and science at UBC; and upon this rock is the education system of British Columbia, a province of democratic Canada, being rebuilt.

At second glance, I don't care much for that Great Thought, even though the dean has the support of Voltaire, Dr. Samuel Johnson and other whetted minds for his contentions.

Let's try another thought labored out by Thomas Jefferson as a guiding principle for the new-born United States of America.

"We hold these truths to be sacred and undeniable; that all men are created equal and independent, that from that equal creation they derive rights inherent and inalienable, among which are the preservation of life, and liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Comfortably lowbrow again, consider the plight of my friend Sandy Crawford, whose pursuit of happiness took him fishing from Becher Bay with a motor that lacked the excuse of age for its contrariness.

When it conked out finally and completely, he started the long row home.

"What hurt," Sandy tells me, "is that we'd gone out early, and while we rowed in, boats with working motors kept shooting past us, everyone so anxious to catch fish that they paid us no attention."

This unhappy condition lasted until a neighbor happened along, and spared time from his scurry for the grounds to offer a tow. Sandy then headed for the dealer's in hope of a spot repair which would let him get back to his fishing.

But the shop was closed, on its door a sign which announced, 'Open at usual time tomorrow.'

Sandy checked in with his motor next morning.

"Where were you guys, anyway?" he reproached.

"Well," the owner explained, "we've heard so much fish-talk from the customers that we decided to lock up and get out to Becher Bay ourselves. Did pretty well, too!"

The big canneries remain strikebound, but the little ones in many a Victoria kitchen are operating full blast as sport fishermen's wives take advantage of a salmon run the like of which hasn't been seen in years.

Sale of cans, canning outfits, sealers and boilers has boomed, and the more venturesome are trying their hand with makeshift smoke-houses.

I'm told that an old icebox, if you can latch on to one, makes an excellent smoker, with salmon fillets laid on the trays, and a smoulder of maple, wild cherry or alder chips beneath.

Keeping time of your fish depends on the duration and type of smoke cure, but since it's a good many years since I monkied with this native art, perhaps one of our local experts will fill out the details.

Meanwhile, the big run continues, and with it the tragedy of a strike that may bring a hard winter to more than a few commercials and their families.

Off now to paint a boat, pausing only to report on the existence in our city of a little old car whose young owner promises more than she can fulfill, I hope.

Inside, liberated from an aircraft, is a plate that carries this warning:

"Windows must be closed at speeds in excess of 150 mph."

Non-Stoppers

Attempting to break a 75-year-old non-stop walking record of 120 miles, Earl Speakman (left) and Norm Patenaude, both 18, left Victoria this morning on a 146-mile walk to Nanaimo and back. Boys expect it will take 40 hours. They had made 23 miles by noon. (Times Photo)

Teacher Shortage Remains 'Critical'

Greater Victoria school board officials used to boast that theirs was the "chosen land" for graduates of teacher training.

But even here they have noticed the shortage of teachers which has caused Education Minister Leslie Peterson to issue a rallying call to all holders of teaching certificates.

Mr. Peterson, in a province-wide advertisement, said "the need for qualified teachers in British Columbia's public schools remains critical."

Particular fields of teacher shortage, he said, were in rural areas, secondary commerce, French, home economics and girls' physical education. A shortage also was noticed in primary grades.

Greater Victoria Superintendent of Schools John Gough said today that although district schools are "fully staffed," for the coming academic year, "we have sensed that the number of applicants was not as great as heretofore."

But he added that only in the field of commerce was "some difficulty" encountered.

He blamed this on the fact that students who take commerce courses in high school are inclined to go into banking or clerical fields rather than teaching.

"Other teachers lack either the training or interest to handle the subjects," Mr. Gough said. In any case, he added, the percentage of students enrolling in commerce classes is not increasing.

Locally, the general teacher shortage this year was aggravated because the board was looking for an additional 50 teachers over last year.

Mr. Gough said negotiations with only 182 applicants took place to fill 150 positions.

City comptroller - treasurer James Bramley today said $1,500,000 of property tax collections will be invested in short-term securities.

Added to another $650,000 invested previously from accumulated tax prepayments, the city hopes to earn about $25,000 in interest before having to withdraw the money to pay civic bills later in the year.

Collections increased this week, reaching a peak Tuesday and Wednesday when crowds of ratepayers filled the collection department to beat the Aug. 1 deadline.

A total of $1,384,000 was paid up in the last two days alone. This morning the department was virtually deserted as a 1 per cent penalty went into effect on unpaid taxes.

Mr. Bramley added that budget estimates of $24,700 for Victoria's share of the commercial vehicle licence revenues pooled by the province likely would be met or exceeded.

The estimate was based on a return of 45 cents per capita and "so far we have received 40 cents per capita—amounting to a total of $22,000—in two payments but I expect we will pick up another five or 10 cents per capita before the end of the year," Mr. Bramley said.

FROM ALBERTA

Judges George White, Mrs. T. Vaulhard, M. J. Bosher and W. J. Pynn are all of Victoria, but the blooms will be coming from many parts of British Columbia and as far east as Lethbridge.

Last year approximately 1,000 flower lovers attended the two-day show. Auction of all the blooms will be held at 9:30 p.m., Aug. 10.

The show is open to the public and competitor's prize lists are available from Mrs. J. Setchell, EV 4-432.

Local charities will receive close to $3,000 from the ship's fund of HMCS Saguenay when the Pacific Command destroyer escort pays off before a 14-month refit and conversion.

Checks will be presented aboard the destroyer at C Jetty, HMC Dockyard, Thursday morning.

Salmon Queen is the name of this new specie of gladioli which will be seen in abundance at the annual show. This 53-inch stalk was grown by Bill Kempster, president of the Victoria Gladioli Society and standard bearer is eight-year-old Maria Newberry.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel; R. G. McKee, deputy minister of forests, "Africa."

A woman and her four-year-old daughter went to hospital after a three-car collision Wednesday at Wilfert and Old Island Highway.

Mrs. Alma Farmer is in satisfactory condition, and daughter Terrie was released after treatment.

Involved in the accident were Clive Farmer, 1455 Craigflower, R. G. Howden, 1010 Nicholson, and George Andrews, 815 Latoria, police said.

Three more oil companies—B.A. Oil, Shell Oil and Standard of B.C.—have raised gasoline prices in Victoria following a country-wide increase initiated by Imperial Oil Monday.

The four-tenths of a cent per gallon boost was made as a result of a 25 per cent increase in the federal gasoline tax. Prices are now 41.3 cents per gallon for standard gasoline and 46.3 cents for premium.

Two other major firms—Royalite and Texaco Canada—are also expected to follow with price boosts.

Four independent outlets in the Victoria area are still holding their old prices of 39.9 and 44.9 cents per gallon and have had no word as to whether or not the four-tenths of a cent federal tax will be passed on to customers.

The Prayer for Israel Group will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. in prayer room of Central Baptist Church, Pandora Avenue. Miss Doris Proffitt of Vancouver will be guest speaker.

Newly appointed to represent Esquimalt on the board of St. Joseph's Hospital is Coun. E. C. Cassels.

He replaces the late G. K. Sammon, who died in England in May.

COURTHOUSE TAKEN OVER BY CITY

Victoria took possession of the vacated Bastion Square Courthouse today.

City manager Dennis Young scheduled a meeting with department heads to review space allocations for the various civic offices when they are moved into the Courthouse in September.

The Courthouse will be the temporary civic headquarters for about 10 months while the interior of City Hall is renovated and an addition constructed as part of the Centennial Victoria Square project.

Several civic officials remarked on the good state of accommodation in the Courthouse and the amount of furnishings, lighting and other equipment left in it.

The building was sold to the city by the provincial government for $5,000 and several city-owned lots in James Bay. It was vacated about a year ago when the new Law Courts building was opened.

'Killer' Sprays To Be Policed

Permanent B.C. Body Will Study Problem

The B.C. government is launching an all-out probe of chemical death.

The investigation may eventually lead to permanent controls over insecticides, weed-killers and agricultural antibiotics.

A special committee of officials from government and private groups, have been set up to do the inquiry.

It will set out terms of reference for a permanent advisory board to police use of chemicals in B.C.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said the investigation was sparked by widespread public concern and by preliminary inquiries made by both his department and the health department.

Health Minister Eric Martin asked for an investigation of the recent death of a small girl who drank insecticide.

Mr. Richter said the committee will examine the possibilities of controlling the use of chemicals, of special labelling, and also of restricted sales through approved outlets.

Heading the committee is Dr. A. B. Kidd, director of the agriculture department's live stock branch.

Representing the health department is Dr. John Smith, director of the division of occupational health in Vancouver.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical Association of Veterinary Scientists will also have representatives on the committee.

OTHER EXPERTS

Mr. Richter said that the advisory board to be set up later will probably also include forestry and conservation experts.

First committee meeting is planned around Aug. 19.

Mr. Richter said the investigation would cover a wide field.

It will include the effect of chemical sprays and weed killers on people and on animals; the use of antibiotics on animals; the effects of chemicals on agricultural crops and meat.

"These are problems that have been worrying us for a long time," he said.

"The difficulty is how to approach them."

Existing Or Not, Hydro Authority Still Pays Debts

Whether or not the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority legally exists, it paid City Hall $5,179.

The money represents 3 per cent of the $172,553 gross passenger fares collected on the transit buses operating within city boundaries during the second quarter this year.

B.C. Hydro, which inherited the buses in the B.C. Electric takeover now ruled invalid, makes the payments each quarter under the city's franchise agreement.

It reported gross passenger fares for the entire Greater Victoria area totalled $280,137 during the past three months.

Ask The Times

Q. Is embalming of a body compulsory before burial? What are the advantages of embalming? C. S.

A. There is no regulation stating the remains must be embalmed. But the body must be registered with the local registrar of births, deaths and marriages who will issue a burial permit.

Embalming is done mainly to preserve the remains from the time of death until burial as well as for sanitary reasons. Embalming is a necessity if the corpse is to be shipped for a long distance.

Q. About what percentage of Canada's workers are members of labor unions? S. D.

A. About 22 per cent of the labor force.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Agreed wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

MINE UNION SELLS SALMON TO AID FISHERMEN'S FUND

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union strike fund received another shot in the arm when a public salmon sale at Interior Trail netted between $12,000 to $15,000.

A spokesman said 26,000 pounds of fish assigned to Trail and Kimberly sold out so quickly at Trail that a second shipment will be loaded to meet the Kimberly commitment.

The Trail local of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) held the sale to aid the fishermen, now in the third week of an industry-wide walkout.

The UFAWU spokesman said other unions on the prairies have indicated they would hold similar sales.

The Calgary Labor Council has been assigned 6,000 pounds of sockeye salmon for a sale in the Alberta centre Friday.

LICENCE DEMANDED BY CITY

Strikers Sell Fish At Dockside

Striking fishermen began selling salmon from the city-operated fishermen's wharf off Erie Street this morning.

A city official was dispatched to require the union to take out a trades licence, costing from $30 to $280 depending on the number of retailers involved.

Handwritten signs were posted on utility poles opposite the wharf advertising red sockeye salmon at 40 cents a pound.

Other signs indicated the sale was being conducted by the Victoria local of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union for their "strike relief fund."

The fish were being sold from the Silver Venture, one of the striking fishboats tied up at the floats.

"They will be required to take out the normal trades licence today," said city manager Dennis Young. "The licence inspector is contacting them now."

Mr. Young recalled the same procedure was followed during the last fishermen's strike here about five years ago.

"As long as they are properly licensed—and provided they take health precautions satisfactory to the medical health officer—they will be allowed to sell fish," Mr. Young said.

NOT TAKING SIDES

"But this certainly doesn't mean the city is taking sides in the dispute. We're just following the proper procedures."

Mr. Young said the Victoria situation was different from one in Vancouver where striking fishermen were denied opportunity to sell fish from a federal government-operated dock because of Ottawa policy.

Victoria fishermen's floats, although belonging to the federal government, are leased and operated by City Hall specifically for commercial fishermen.

Today's Tourists

By MARGE GILROY

Tourism may be growing but not the mode of touring. Cars diminished into compact and midgelets. And now motor bikes and scooters are rapidly gaining in popularity.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Pierce locked the car in the garage, put their sleeping bags on the back of their new motor bikes and struck off on their vacation.

Both Sid and Dot, as they are identified on their crash helmets, are employed with Crown Zellerbach in Camas, Wash. They use their car for commuting to work but otherwise prefer travelling by motor bike.

Mr. Pierce previously owned a smaller model. He taught his wife to ride it and rarely saw it again. Three months ago they bought two large models and already have clocked 2,570 miles.

Earlier this week they rode up to Hurricane Ridge on the Olympic Peninsula and camped out in a state park. Only mishap was when the air went out of the mattress.

Shortly after they arrived in Victoria they were seen parked along Government Street trying to figure out their position on a road map.

Even cruising at 55-65 m.p.h. the Pierses find they have more opportunity to see the countryside.

"But you have to love the fresh air," commented Mrs. Pierce.

After touring Victoria the cyclists will head up-Island before crossing over to the mainland and home again.

Seleginella Lepidophylla Comes to Life With Water

By PENNY SAVER

What your house needs is a seleginella lepidophylla. I doubt very much that you have one or, if you have, that you know it by that name!

A Mexican novelty item, it is also called the Rose of Jericho or resurrection plant.

You buy a dried up brown mass that looks like an unwashed fugitive from Arthur's weed patch (reference for Miss Peach readers only!) But when placed in a bowl of water for 15 to 20 minutes, it becomes green and starts to grow.

As long as water is added or changed occasionally, it remains glowing. When removed, it closes and goes to sleep until placed in water again.

Price is just 39 cents and, if nothing else, it would make a good decoration for your fish bowl.

I was fooled too, by innocent looking flat packages in the same store. In green, red, blue, brown, black or yellow, some had cowering horses in unlikely colors of mauve, yellow and pink as decoration; others had cherry blossoms.

Reason package is deceiving is that it really is a collapsible box. Slip an ordinary long-size kleenex box inside, pop the tissue through the hole in these unique covers and then see if your guests can tell what brand you use! Price for this decorative camouflage is $1.09.

Toe slippers (ones which only have covering over the toe, I mean) are available in this shop for 98 cents a pair. Made in Hong Kong, they have satin toes in all colors of the rainbow and good range of sizes, including ones for the children.

Satisfy your curiosity by calling Penny at 382-3111 to ask where I shopped.

THE BETTER HALF

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Excessive Brushing and Massaging Good for Hair

No one yet knows how to stop grey hair or keep the lovely shades of youth except by using a rinse or dye. However, when I interviewed one of the leading hair experts she told me that they had in fact files (in fact she showed me some of them) letters saying that the color of the hair had improved and greyness slowed up after a period when the writers had had a daily scalp massage. When this was done at a salon the muscles at the back of the neck and over the top of the shoulders were almost massaged.

There is no doubt that correct brushing and scalp massage do help keep the hair healthy and therefore lovely. This is a form of exercise for the scalp. It stimulates circulation.

When you brush your hair part it at intervals all over your head. Brush along each part. Turn the bristles down toward the scalp and then up toward the ceiling as you sweep the bristles toward the ends of the hair. This exerts a gentle pull at the roots. The usual brushing does little good. Most experts feel that you should use a brush with natural bristles. These pull without breaking the hair.

Some authorities think that many women shampoo their hair too often. This may be true if a woman has a very dry scalp and very dry hair. In this case once a week may be too drying. At any rate a cream shampoo should be used.

When you massage your scalp spread the fingers of both hands over the scalp and rotate the hands. Do not move the fingers, just the scalp. Change the position of your hands until you have covered your entire head.

This increases circulation in the scalp, and some women find it relaxing to bend from the waist and let the head drop forward before brushing the hair or massaging the scalp.

DEAR ABBY...

Make Him Prove It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Lloyd and I have been married five years. We have two children. I thought we were very happy until last week. A strange man telephoned me and told me that if my husband didn't stay away from his wife there would be trouble. When my husband came home, I asked him point blank. He admitted that he and this married woman loved each other and had been seeing one another for a year. He said they were planning to get divorced and marry each other. Abby, Lloyd is 25 and she is 38! She has four children. Can this be love? Last night she and Lloyd sat and talked with me. They said they had decided to call it quits because of the children. Abby, they work together in the same plant, and I know they won't stop "loving" each other no matter what they say. Neither will give up his job. What should I do?

BROKEN HEARTED AT 23. DEAR BROKEN HEARTED: Assuming Lloyd and this woman were sincere in their promises to "call it quits," if they continue to work together, their good intentions won't last long. Tell Lloyd that you will believe that he means to "call it quits" when either he or she quits the plant. Offer to move anywhere—but don't buy their story unless they are out of temptation's way.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who once weighed 220 pounds. I finally got down to 130. It took me almost a year but I did it. I love myself this way, and I'll never be fat again. What bothers me is people who say, "Oh, I liked you better fat." Or, "Somehow you don't seem the same. You seem to have lost something in your personality!" Abby, how can you get along with people like that?

THINNER AND Madder. DEAR THINNER: You don't "get along" with people like that. You try to get along without them. They'd miss a wart on the end of your nose if they had become accustomed to seeing it there. But would you?

DEAR ABBY: There is an elderly woman in our neighborhood who is driving everyone crazy. She is a dog-feeder. She makes her poor 72-year-old husband climb fences to feed other people's dogs that are cooped up in their own yards. We have two dogs that we feed ourselves and we don't want

Heirloom Locket Worn

A gold locket worn by the bride's maternal grandmother on her wedding day was "something old" for Marlene Carole Ashworth when she exchanged vows with John Richardson in Gordon United Church at Langford, Sat. flowers were applied on her full-length gown of white nylon over taffeta and net. A pill box headpiece held the chapel-length veil. Red roses and white stephanotis were in her bouquet.

Rev. V. W. Z. Van Druten officiated at the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert H. Smith, 1063 Dunford Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, 1818 Julia Street. Mr. Smith gave his stepdaughter in marriage.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Matron of honor, Mrs. Don De Rousie and bridesmaid, Miss Yvonne Smith wore blue nylon dresses, toning pill box hats and veils and white accessories. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and stephanotis and had aurora crystal necklaces, gift of the bride and groom.

Aleta Smith was flower girl in a yellow nylon frock, toning headband and white accessories. White and blue flowers were in her colonial bouquet.

Russell Ashworth was best man and ushers were Barry Richardson and Ray Beech. John Ashworth, Vancouver, proposed the toast to his sister at a reception in Royal Canadian Legion Hall. A three-tier wedding cake was flanked by white candles, red roses in silver candelabra and baskets of white daisies, pink clarkia and snapdragons.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a primrose yellow linen suit, white accessories and Tallman rosebud corsage.

After a honeymoon trip to the Okanagan the newlyweds are now living at 3353 Wascana Street.

They Compliment

Orange is complimentary to those of you with glowing sun-tans. Redheads, blondes, brunettes and brownettes can wear the orange shades if the correct foundation and lipstick shades are used with them. Foundation make-up with yellow tones will make you look jaundiced when combined with the orange.

Beige-rose tones are best because they give a look of warmth to the complexion and this goes well with the oranges. Pastel lipsticks such as candy or brandy orange complete the color co-ordinates.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Here's a sewing problem that just can't be done.

"Dear Eunice: 'How do you fringe the ends of a tie scarf that has been cut on the bias?'—Mrs. F.G.

Dear Mrs. F.G.: Sorry, this can't be done. In order to fringe anything, it must be cut on the true cross-grain or lengthwise grain at the ends. This would also apply to a scarf that is cut straight, but has an angle at the ends.

You will have to fringe a straight piece of fabric and insert it in a seam at the lower ends of a tie, just the way you would insert lace.

Convent Girl Took Europe By Storm

By PAT DUFOUR

A lanky 14-year-old girl attended a convent in Vienna and dreamed of becoming Europe's greatest theatrical star. This, in spite of the fact that, as daughter of the Portuguese consul, her parents expected her to grow up and live a somewhat more conventional life.

Mrs. M. F. Collm, who now lives alone in a hilltop home on Prospect Lake Road, recalls those days vividly:

"I was determined to reach the top or quit. One day I read that the Deutsches Volkstheater (People's Theatre) was auditioning for pupils.

"I sneaked out of the convent and applied. I was far from my best in my convent uniform and sleeked-back hair. When I saw all the elegant women and good-looking men waiting with me—I thought, 'What chance have I?'"

VERBAL FIREWORKS

Weeks later, when holidaying with her mother, a letter came telling her she'd been accepted. Verbal fireworks broke out and the teenager was forced to delay her theatrical training.

But, when she was 17, the family relented and Maria was allowed to enroll in the Vienna Academie. After one year, she told her teachers and family she knew all that was necessary and set out on her own.

"I found the life very hard, having to study and rehearse for so many plays a month. I cut myself off from my family and often lived on tea and dry bread. But I made it."

Although acting was her first love, Maria Collm soon became well-known in Europe for her night club appearances where, with a voice as deep and vibrant as Marlene Dietrich's, she sang her name into neon lights in Germany, France and Holland.

There was a seven-year period of silence for the determined performer when she married her husband in Breslau (East Germany) and, on his request, went into temporary retirement.

She bore a son and assumed the chores of running a home. But the pull of the stage was too much, and in 1931 she was captivated listeners with her recordings and radio appearances.

ESCAPES GERMAN

War found the Collms in Paris and, after fleeing from the Germans on foot, Maria Collm was able to escape through unoccupied France to Portugal and found herself en route to the United States in 1941.

She describes the ship in which she travelled as a "swimming hell" with 1,500 passengers crammed into space intended for 450. During the trip, she helped keep the passengers' morale high by giving concerts for the American and Portuguese Red Cross.

"Perhaps," she admits, "it was because of this that the captain was so kind to me. He radioed ahead and when we docked in New York there were many reporters who met me and gave me wonderful publicity."

The evening after she landed

Now a widow, Maria Collm has retired to Prospect Lake where she has "literally dug" out of her rocky-terrained garden the brilliant flower beds that are her pride. With her is her Golden Labrador "Musco."

ed, Maria Collm was singing at two night clubs an evening.

Superb actress as she was, none of her audience could have guessed that the slim songstress was in a ferment of anxiety. During their flight from Paris, the Collm family had been separated. It was years before she heard news of her husband and son.

It was while she was appearing in the Satrie Room in Boston, Mass., that she learned that her son was safe.

"The owner of the night club was wonderful to me. He introduced me to a Roman Catholic priest who spent months making enquiries and finally was able to tell me that my son was in a Quaker School in Holland. He is now married and living in Buenos Aires."

She favored short skirts when she was performing. "When you have possible legs—you should show them. Their movements are important, you can do much this way to reach your audience."

CONSIDERATE THIEVES

It was in a New York night club that Maria Collm was caught in a holdup. "These masked men held us at gun point, taking valuables and money from the customers. I was seated at a table and hid my rings because I didn't want to lose them.

"Imagine my surprise when they came up to me and said, 'Oh, you're a performer, want some money?' and offered to dump some in front of me!"

In addition to her night club work, Mrs. Collm also worked during the day for two years. Fluent in German, French and English, she acted as interpreter for the Foster Parents' Plan, helping to find homes for war orphans.

Averaging four hours of sleep a night, this pace resulted in two nervous breakdowns.

In 1954, her European lawyer demanded her return to "settle my affairs." This took five years and, in 1959, Maria was free to realize her latest dream, to live on Vancouver Island.

Six weeks after her arrival, she bought her present home and moved in "on my birthday night with just a bed and Coleman stove."

Now, apart from her clipping-stuffed scrapbook, Maria Collm has little contact with the world of theatre which has loosed its once-magnetic pull.

But, to this day, when she walks into a room her vibrant personality still manages to dominate those around her.

Harbor House Grounds en Fete For Salt Spring Island Party

Proud boast of three Anglican parishes and a mission on Salt Spring Island that for the past 20 years, their annual garden party has drawn sunshine and blue skies, remained a truth once again on Wednesday.

Tree-shaded grounds of Harbor House at Ganges, where it has become traditional to hold the gathering were bright with sunshine and crowded with parishioners, summer tourists and visitors, who had come to the island specially for the event.

A sum of more than $750 was realized.

Affair was opened by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who was accompanied by Mrs. Pearkes. She was presented with a corsage of sweethearts by little Miss Diana Stone.

Stalls were arranged in the shade of the trees on the edge of the lawn overlooking the waters of the harbor.

GIVENCHY EXCLUDES PRESS

PARIS (UPI)—Wider shoulders and more fitted waistlines were the silhouette followed by designer Hubert Givenchy, one of the foremost of Paris, at the showing of his fall-winter line Wednesday.

The press, as is the tradition of the exclusive Givenchy House, was not invited.

Although loose waistlines and natural shoulders still are in the majority of the Paris collections, Givenchy, one of the most influential designers in Paris, apparently agrees with the equally influential house of Dior that shoulders should be fuller and waists more marked.

Givenchy did not tamper with skirt lengths, but left them just covering the knee, according to a survey of buyers who attended.

Buyers said Givenchy did not show "any gimmicks," and not one knee high boot was in sight.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — British star Peter Sellers — a judge at the Miss Universe Pageant — evidently didn't spend all his time judging at Miami Beach. For "Petah" is around now with "Miss Sweden" (beautiful blonde Kerstin Jonsson). He took her to "Tovarich," then to El Morocco. He signed her for his film, "The World of Henry Orient." "I'm going to help her meet all the important producers," he announced. The consensus is that Miss Sweden didn't walk away with any prizes — but walked away with the most famous of the judges.

Broadway's bored with Christine and Mandy. Reaction here: "Who gives a damn who a couple of moron call girls got as customers?" ... James Garner, here from L.A., was dining at the NY Hilton's 7 Hills. "Are you a golfer?" asked a fan. "Certainly am," said Jim. "Then here's your certificate in the Professional Duffers Ass'n," said the fan. "It entitles you to play with Jackie Gleason."

Loretta Young's suffering severely from a pinched nerve (at the home of her dtr. Judy Lewis) ... Lovely Mrs. Edwin Perona, First Lady of El Morocco, is expecting her second in February ... Slim, youthful-looking playwright Howard Teichmann was at a hospital when his dtr. Mrs. Judy Stecker, had a son, making him a grandfather. A nurse paid him the all-time compliment, coming up to say, "And I presume you are the father?"

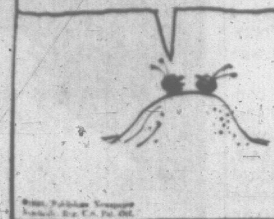

Alan King, now the comedy

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Eclipse Reveals Young Skygazers

By JACK HUTTON

The recent eclipse of the sun focused attention on a small but devoted group of Canadian teen-agers — our amateur stargazers.

No one knows exactly how many thousands of young people wait for dark across Canada to stare into the heavens, but the number is growing.

Long before the rest of us became interested in the path of the eclipse across Canada, these enthusiasts already knew exactly what to expect.

And, even more important, they knew something else that might interest some of you: Summertime is one of the best times of the year to learn more about the sun, moon and stars.

Borrow Glasses

You undoubtedly know friends who have telescopes. Some may even be lucky enough to have a solarium at home with the best viewing equipment. But don't spend any of your money yet. A borrowed pair of field glasses is fine for a start.

The first step in becoming a stargazer is a simple one. Pick a clear night and head for a place where you can see the horizon in as many directions as possible.

Notice the Big Dipper? This is the formation most of us recognize first, so ask your folks if you can't recognize it.

Marbles 'Fried' For Jewelry

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Frying marbles is the unusual hobby of 13-year-old Barry George.

A fried-marble, Barry explains, is one that has been heated, then plunged into cold water so that the interior fractures. He then mounts the marbles and produces colorful jewelry.

So far he has given most of the jewelry to his mother but he's thinking of going into business.

It's a rather delicate art in one way.

"Sometimes the marbles get too hot so that if they get a small knock they may break," he says. "Others just explode once they hit the cold water."

He says he's ready to replace any he sells if they do break.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. George, Barry developed an interest in fried marbles as an outgrowth of his rock-collecting hobby.

And make sure you notice the position of stars at several points around the horizon.

After half an hour has passed look at the horizon stars again. Notice anything? They have moved. In our hemisphere, the stars seem to rise and move to the right at the rate of about 15 degrees per hour.

If this phenomenon interests you, you're not alone. It's not hard to imagine man standing and wondering about the stars thousands of years ago. Imagine them seeing an eclipse!

Space Travel

Will we ever journey through space to a star? Anything is possible, but a rocket ship travelling 18,000 miles per hour would still take 160,000 years to reach our nearest star.

Hardly the same thing as a jaunt to the corner store. But we already know a certain amount about these far-away stars. We know, for instance, that a thimbleful of the material which makes up some stars weighs two and one-half tons.

With a bit of researching, you can find a bright star called Antares in the southern part of the sky. It, the scientists tell us, is 400,000 miles wide.

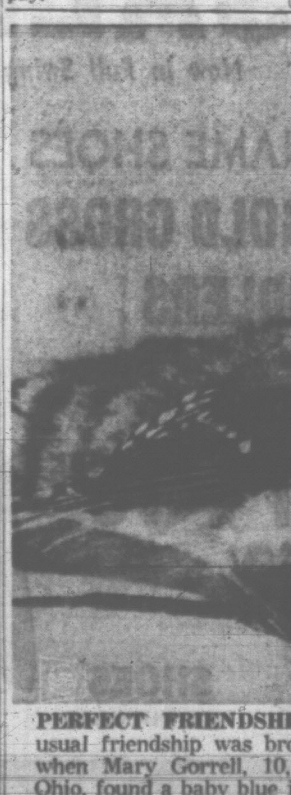

That means nothing until we remember that it would take a jet plane traveling 1,000 miles per hour 46 years to make the trip. This, of course, doesn't count letting the poor pilot stop for dinner.

If these random facts interest you, I'd suggest a visit to your local library. Or, if you'd like to buy an uncomplicated pocketbook, look for "The Stars — Steppingstones Into Space" by Dr. Irving Adler. (Signet P2083).

Who knows? By the time the next eclipse of the sun swings across Canada in 1972, you may be an expert giving the rest of us answers.

STILL DRAW PAY

Working women in Israel get a 12-week maternity leave — at least half of it after childbirth — at 75 per cent of full pay.

PERFECT FRIENDSHIP—An unusual friendship was brought about when Mary Correll, 10, of Toledo, Ohio, found a baby blue jay near her home. She decided to take care of it, and Tino, the family cat, grew accustomed to having the feathered creature around.

Anyone Can Help to Restore a Blind Man's Sight

By MARGE GILROY

More than 600 blind persons in Canada have benefited from corneal transplants since the operation was first performed.

The operation is performed in Victoria five or six times a year.

Unfortunately only a very small percentage of those suffering from blindness can benefit from the operation which consists of removing scarred corneal tissue and replacing it with healthy tissue from another human eye.

In 1956 an eye bank was inaugurated in Ontario and similar banks are now set up from coast to coast. The corneas, the transparent covering over iris and pupil, are removed from deceased persons who have previously given permission for the removal of their eyes.

The cornea must be removed within a few hours of death, which means that only in circumstances where there are facilities at hand for removal can the eye be used.

Following the removal of the cornea it is placed in a special thermos provided by the CNIB and must be used within the next 12-18 hours.

Donor eyes are also necessary for research in ophthalmology and the vitreous fluid, the gelatinous substance which fills the eye can be frozen and stored. It is used in the repair of detached retinas and other conditions.

Dr. J. T. Cruise, Victoria, ophthalmologist for the CNIB, says that in other parts of Canada there is a waiting list of people for corneal transplants, but this is not the case here, although there are several anticipating the operation.

One reason for this is that there is not the number of industrial accidents in Victoria causing scarring of the cornea.

Number of corneal transplants done in Victoria averages 5-6 a year.

Dr. Cruise says that the percentage of successful operations has increased to well over 50 per cent as the technique of the operation has improved.

Anyone wishing to be an eye donor following death may phone the CNIB and a card will be mailed to them. One portion of the card is mailed to the divisional office in Vancouver and the other portion should be kept in the potential donor's wallet.

Next-of-kin and doctor should be notified of the donor's wishes so that the cornea may be removed as soon as possible.

Success of the operation depends on many factors but the most important is the immediacy with which the operation is performed.

Red Carpet Treatment Planned For Lord Mayor of London

B.C.'s red carpet goes out this month for Britain's highest civic official, the Lord Mayor of London.

He will spend three days in Victoria starting Aug. 30, during a five-day visit to the province.

The Lord Mayor, Sir Ralph Perring, will stay at Government House part of the time, be the guest of Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson, cruise the Gulf Islands, make a speech, plant a tree and go to church here.

Coming with him will be his wife, Lady Ethel, and three other London civic officials.

They are winding up a tour of Canada which has already taken them to Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

They will be met at Banff Aug. 27 by deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, their escort for the entire B.C. tour, which starts the next day with a drive through Rogers Pass to the Okanagan.

At Penticton they will catch a plane for Vancouver where they will spend an evening on their own.

On Aug. 29 they will visit Vancouver city hall, lunch with Mayor William Rathie and visit the PNE. They'll catch a late

Douk 'Confessions' Questioned by Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A B.C. appeal court judge has questioned the "studied use of psychological methods" to extract information and confessions from Sons of Freedom Doukhobors last year.

Mr. Justice H. W. Davey Wednesday handed down written reasons why he dissented when the court disallowed the appeal of George Demenoff from conviction of placing an explosive.

Demenoff had been found guilty by Judge M. M. Colquhoun at Penticton Jan. 4, 1962. His trial was one of many held early last year in which Doukhobors were charged with acts of violence.

Mr. Justice Davey said there was an apparent increase in jail privileges granted Demenoff and other Doukhobors awaiting trial at Nelson after they had either given information or made confessions. Some prisoners had been allowed to visit their homes.

Portuguese Urged to End Repressions

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations Security Council Wednesday called on Portugal to end alleged repressions in her African territories and put them on the road to independence.

The vote in the 11-nation council was eight to zero with the United States, Britain and France abstaining.

The Asian-African resolution was watered down by a series of amendments, but it still had provisions which the U.S. opposed.

In its final form the proposal requested that all countries take measures to prevent the supply of military equipment which the Portuguese government might use to "continue its repression" of the people in its African territories.

During the debate African spokesmen had charged that weapons supplied by the United States and other members of NATO had been used against opposition groups in the territories.

Water Bomber Pilot Killed

SMITHERS (CP)—A 28-year-old pilot was killed Wednesday when his plane crashed into some trees as he was practicing water bombing of forest fires.

Dead is James Roberts of Coquitlam near Vancouver. He was flying a plane owned by Skyway Air Services of Langley.

The plane was loaded with special mud used for fighting fires.

Black Muslims Jailed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four Black Muslims were given prison terms Wednesday and seven were placed on probation in the aftermath of a bloody riot outside the anti-white sect's temple last year.

BORNEO REFERENDUM

Malaya Premier Bows to Sukarno

MANILA (Reuters)—The British government says the Aug. 31 date for foundation of the Malaysia federation is unalterable, sources close to the three-power Malaysia summit conference here reported today.

This followed a surprise announcement by Malayan Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman that his country was prepared to let the United Nations decide how the people of British Borneo should be given self-determination.

President Sukarno of Indonesia, here for talks with Rahman and President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines insists that a referendum be held in the British-ruled territories of North Borneo and Sarawak to see if the people favor the proposed merger with Malaya and Singapore.

Unconfirmed reports quoted Rahman as saying he was ready to forgo the Aug. 31 date. He declared earlier that Malaysia would be formed by then no matter what happened.

Rahman told reporters Wednesday night that the question of self-determination for the people of British Borneo is in the hands of UN Secretary-General U Thant.

Rahman was believed to be relying on Thant saying that an official investigation rather than a referendum would be necessary in Borneo and that the federation should be formed on schedule.

Sukarno has vowed to wreck Malaysia in its present concept, claiming it is a "neo-colonialist" tool.

With their foreign ministers conferring today to work out proposals to be presented to Thant, the three leaders were not due to meet again until Friday.

MOWER MEN 'CUT UP' IN HOME

TORONTO (CP) — Two men with a power lawn mower rapped on Fred Cannon's door Tuesday night. When Mr. Cannon answered they walked right in and began mowing.

The machine yanked the drapes off the wall, chewed them up and spewed them out. It tore into the bedroom and punched two holes in the wall. It smashed into a kitchen table, sending dishes flying.

Alfred Morton, 24, and James Flaherty, 24, both of Toronto, were charged with malicious damage and being unlawfully in a dwelling.

Senate Holds Up MPs' Pay Raise

OTTAWA (CP) — Salary increases for all members of Parliament and senators were left in a suspended state by the Senate Wednesday.

The bill raising indemnities and expense allowances to $15,000 a year from $10,000 for MPs created a stir in the Commons Monday when Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and nine Conservative and Social Credit members voted against the higher pay.

It passed first and second readings in the Senate with little comment Tuesday, and stood as item number one on the Senate order paper for third reading Wednesday afternoon.

When it was called, however, Senator W. Ross Macdonald

(L-Ontario), government leader and a minister without portfolio in the Pearson cabinet, said the bill would stand for further consideration later.

He gave no explanation and the bill was put off.

NO HASTE

Outside the Senate, a source said the Senate does not consider there is need for hasty action on the measure. He said a royal assent ceremony could be arranged later if needed before Parliament adjourns for its summer recess.

Meanwhile, on the Commons side of the Parliament Hill Centre Block, MPs were receiving protests by telegram and letter against the extent of the increase.

Under the measure, Commons members will receive a boost in indemnities to $12,000 a year from $8,000, and an increase in tax-free expense allowances to $6,000 a year from $2,000. Senators will receive a total of $15,000.

'Must Learn To Be Friends With Others'

HELSINKI (AP) — Finnish President Eero Kekkonen told the Lutheran World Federation Wednesday night it requires great faith to remain friendly with those whose "outlook is different from one's own."

"This is what we must learn if we, the human race, want to avoid fatal disruptions and ravages of nuclear war," he told federation officials and others gathered in Helsinki's Exhibition Hall.

Kekkonen spoke at the large public session following the first day of regular sessions at the Lutheran assembly.

Kekkonen warned that fear of destruction is not enough to bridge the barriers that separate peoples today. The real incentive is an ethical belief in the fundamental value of all human beings, he said.

In its afternoon plenary session the assembly voted to accept 11 new churches—eight of them African — which had sought federation membership.

Mother, Daughter Drown in Lake

SMITHERS (CP) — A mother and her small daughter were drowned Wednesday in Lake Kathlyn.

Police said they found a small boat adrift on the lake a short time after the two had gone out. The body of the child was recovered and a search began for the woman's body.

They were identified as Mrs. Eugene Bellevance, 20, and her daughter, Rae-Ann, 3, of Prince George.

AROUND VANCOUVER ISLAND

Ferry Schedules Extra Sailings

Extra Sunday sailings will be inaugurated this weekend on the Gulf Islands run, M. F. Aldous, general manager of the British Columbia Ferry Authority, announced today.

An extra round trip of the Queen of the Islands will operate from Long Harbour, Salt Spring Island, at noon Sunday, stopping at Village Bay, Mayne Island and Sturdies Bay, Galliano, enroute to Tsawwassen. The return trip will sail from Tsawwassen at 2:30 p.m. direct to Long Harbour.

There will be two evening sailings of the vessel, the first at 7:30 p.m. to Studies Bay and return; the second at 9:30 p.m. with a call at Village Bay on the way to Long Harbour.

The evening sailing of the Pender Queen in the outer islands will be altered to take overland traffic between Village Bay and Sturdies Bay.

Mr. Aldous said the extra Sunday sailings have been made necessary by the "very enthusiastic reception of the new Mainland-Gulf Islands service" which started July 4.

Wins Scholarship

A $500 university and Chris Spencer Foundation General Proficiency scholarship was awarded Eleanor Barbara Wilkins of Milnes Landing recently. The Milnes Landing High School student was awarded the scholarship for coming first in one of 13 areas in the province in June provincial exams.

Bids Open Today

SIDNEY — Bids on Sidney's planned $60,000 municipal centre will be opened at 4 p.m. at the village commission office, First Street.

The proposed structure will house village administration offices, police, waterworks administration, health department, and civil defence.

Fraud Costs $75

DUNCAN — A Cowichan Bay man whose $32 a week income was $6 more than the law allows was fined $75 for defrauding the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Clifford Venus pleaded guilty to 10 charges of failing to declare supplementary earnings to the UIC, for a total of $173 between Feb. 24 and May 4.

Meanwhile, he collected $15 a week in unemployment benefits—a total of $60 more than he was entitled to receive. Venus agreed with Magistrate, D. K. McAdam to repay the money at $20 a month.

Centre Planned

NANAIMO (CP)—Plans for a $400,000 shopping centre just outside the city's northern limits were announced Wednesday by Nanaimo Leaseholds Limited.

Alan E. Deering spokesman for the group, said the project may take several years to complete.

First stage will start next month with construction of a 32-lane bowling alley and restaurant.

Mr. Deering said the shopping centre will be built along the lines of West Vancouver's Park Royal.

Injury Handicap

A fractured skull is preventing a young teen-ager from participating in the third Inter-Pacific Pony Club competition to be held in Aurora, Ont., Aug. 14-15.

Joan Norcross, 16, of Duncan, was one of 15 Canadians nominated to enter the competitions which are held every second year.

But, on July 11, Joan fell from her horse while riding on Queen of the Islands and fractured her skull. She was hospitalized until July 25 and is not to do any riding for another two months.

Three girls from New Zealand and five boys and three girls from Australia will arrive in Vancouver on Friday and will be joined by Canadian competitors for a sight-seeing trip across Western Canada.

There will also be five competitors each from the eastern and western U.S.

Competitions are designed to improve the young people's riding and horsemanship. Tests will be in dressage, cross-country riding and show jumping.

Club Show Chosen

DUNCAN — Duncan Musical Club will produce Oklahoma! for its annual show in February.

Music director will be Dr. Heinz Kilian, stage director Charlotte Moore assisted by Amy Baker, choreographer Marg Carlson, chorus mistress Elsie Kirby and orchestra manager Alan Campbell.

Friday at 8 p.m. the club will have a public music appreciation night at the home of Mrs. Pat Gibson, Davis Crescent, to hear selections from Strauss' Die Fledermaus, with explanatory notes.

Cougars Elusive

SAANICHTON — Reports of cougars in the John Dean Park area at Mount Newton were checked Wednesday by a conservation officer and tracking dogs without success.

Game branch officer Jack Lenfesty said it is not unusual for cougars to be found in such an area at this time of year, since the animals range widely.

Reports came from Andrew McKay, 1842 Dean Park Road, who was walking his dogs when he turned and saw a cougar looking at him from 20 feet away; another resident of the road who said she saw the hindquarters and tail of a cougar prowling near her son's tent, and Mrs. Margaret Robb, 1885 Dean Park, who saw two cougars in a field.

Sloop Found Safe

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 18-foot sloop Blyth, missing overnight on a trip from Nanaimo with four persons aboard, was sighted late Wednesday near Vancouver harbor.

Officials of Air-Sea Rescue, which organized a search for the craft, did not know the cause of the sailing boat's delay on a trip from Nanaimo to Richmond Marina south of Vancouver.

Aboard were Chris Turner, his wife and son John, 14, of Nanaimo and a friend of the son, Glen Battye, 13, of Vancouver.

Springs to Revive

GANGES — Plans are being made to develop Salt Spring Island's neglected salt springs for health spa use.

The muddy-looking saline seepages flow over the fields at Fernwood Farms, owned since 1959 by Mr. and Mrs. Jan Harkema, who envision filtering the stream for mineral drinking water, and construction of pools and heating plant for bathing.

It is claimed the waters—now a chilly 40 degrees—benefit rheumatic complaints. The couple also feel that lush, green salt plants growing along the stream might be good dietary supplements.

Pedestrian Hurt

DUNCAN — Hong Kan, 70, is in good condition at King's Daughters' Hospital today after being in collision with a car on James Street Wednesday.

Police said pedestrian Kan was trying to cross the street when he was in the accident with a car driven by David T. Gray, Duncan.

Limits Extended

SIDNEY — Owner-electors of Sidney voted Tuesday in favor of extending the limits of the village municipality.

The referendum passed by a 68.7 per cent "yes" vote.

A. W. Sharp, returning officer, said out of 1,000 eligible cast. The count showed 216 yes voters, there were 314 ballots votes and 98 no votes.

The extension will add a half block to the southern boundary and will square the western boundary along East Saanich Road.

It will also take in Roberts Point, Armstrong Point and a portion of Mill Point to the north.

The extension of the boundary will permit nearby homes, including Rest Haven Hospital, to connect with the Sidney sewer system.

BOY MUST GO TO WORK TO SUPPORT VICTIM

... unusual sentence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A juvenile court judge Wednesday ordered a 16-year-old boy to work to help support the family of a man he ran down with an auto.

Arthur J. Brookes Jr. will start immediately as a hod-carrier for a bricklaying firm and turn over half his weekly pay cheque to Steven M. Breitenbach, 41, until Brookes reaches 21. He will earn $2 an hour.

Breitenbach, who has three children, was struck July 17 as he watered his lawn. He lost his right foot and suffered head and body injuries in the accident. He is a printer.

Judge J. Sydney Hoffman said if young Brookes misses a payment he faces incarceration at the state correctional institution. And his parents will have to forfeit a $5,000 judgment note.

DOESN'T KNOW VERDICT

Ward Dying After Surgery

(Times News Services)
LONDON — Dr. Stephen Ward was placed in an iron lung with bronchial pneumonia and was reported near death late today.

Convicted on two vice charges growing out of Britain's sex and security scandal, the society osteopath was in a deep coma from an overdose of drugs taken Wednesday on the last day of his trial.

The pneumonia developed after throat surgery this morning to ease his breathing.

Ward was unaware of his conviction on charges of living off prostitution.

He will be sentenced when and if he recovers. His lawyers said they would appeal the conviction.

A London newspaper asked today whether Ward might be a "fall guy" and whether the trial had brought out everything about those in high positions involved in the scandal.

Ward himself, in a newspaper interview he granted the night before his suicide attempt, charged that Lord Astor "crucified me" by not speaking up for him.

Ward, who had a cottage on Astor's Cliveden estate and was a friend of the wealthy peer, admitted he introduced Astor to 21-year-old Christine Keeler and 18-year-old Mandy Rice-Davies but not with the intention of offering their services as prostitutes.

DIDN'T TESTIFY
Mandy testified that she had been intimate with Astor and with actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Both men denied this in statements out of court but did not testify.

"It's not prison that worries me," Ward told a reporter Tuesday night. "It's taking the blame, being the victim of a witch hunt — that's what hurts."

Then he described how the affair started.

"Bill Astor phoned me up one day and told me he had Jack Profumo coming down to Cliveden for the weekend. I took Keeler down and she met Mr. Profumo. The following day I found that Jack had taken a liking to her."

"Well, I did help them meet again. I know, I was a fool."

High Pension Cost Denied by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh has denied a report that the cost of financing the Canada Pension Plan will rise to 15 per cent of payroll earnings.

Miss LaMarsh said in the Commons Wednesday that figures quoted by a Toronto actuary firm are "completely erroneous."

"The figures which were given at the time of the submission (by the government) are correct so far as actuaries are able to give figures, bearing in mind that we are projecting into the future," she said in reply to P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe East).

However the health minister said that the cost of employers and employees could rise to five per cent by the year 2000. Health department actuaries estimate the cost of the plan at two per cent.

The two per cent rate, to be divided between employers and their workers, is guaranteed for the first 10 years of the pension plan.

A Toronto actuarial firm said last week that the ultimate cost of the plan would be about nine per cent of payroll earnings. This would rise to 15 per cent by adding taxes needed to support the present $65 pension paid to all persons 70 years of age and over.

Miss LaMarsh said it is not correct to tie in both pensions because they are "on a completely different basis."

Nikita To Attend

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will attend Monday's signing of the partial nuclear test ban treaty and take personal command of high level talks with the United States and Britain, it was learned today.

FLUORIDE FIGHT PROVES COSTLY

DUBLIN (UPI)—A 34-year-old Dublin housewife faced a court bill today totalling about $700,000.

Mrs. Gladys Ryan lost a 67-day court battle against the Irish government over its decision to put fluorine into the country's water to counter tooth decay in children.

She asked the high court to rule it unconstitutional, and experts from Europe, the United States, India, Japan and South Africa were brought in to give evidence, but the court ruled against her and ordered her to pay the costs.

Mrs. Ryan, who says she cannot possibly pay, has appealed to the supreme court.

Ottawa Sets Trusteeship For Unions

OTTAWA (UPI)—Labor Minister Allan MacEachen announced today the government will introduce legislation in the fall to set up a trusteeship governing the activities of the Canadian maritime transportation unions.

In a statement to the Commons, MacEachen said the government and Canadian Labor Congress had reached agreement that a trusteeship, the major recommendation of the Norris shipping inquiry report, was necessary under present "extraordinary" conditions.

MacEachen stressed that it would be of a temporary nature, and described it as a "distasteful remedy to deal with a repugnant situation."

He said the legislation was not being introduced before the summer recess as it would have been of a general nature.

He said the government intended to press ahead with a detailed bill during the recess to overcome any constitutional problems involved in order to reach a satisfactory solution.

The two per cent rate, to be divided between employers and their workers, is guaranteed for the first 10 years of the pension plan.

A Toronto actuarial firm said last week that the ultimate cost of the plan would be about nine per cent of payroll earnings. This would rise to 15 per cent by adding taxes needed to support the present $65 pension paid to all persons 70 years of age and over.

Miss LaMarsh said it is not correct to tie in both pensions because they are "on a completely different basis."

Canadian Drug Ring Smashed by Mounties

Ontario Raids Net 12 Suspects

TORONTO (CP)—RCMP officers smashed what they claim to be Canada's largest narcotics syndicate when they raided homes in Toronto and two other towns Wednesday night, arresting 12 persons and seizing $100,000 worth of heroin.

They said the arrests of seven men and five women culminated five months of intensive investigations in six major Canadian cities. More arrests were expected.

In an operation code named "Mr. Big," 75 RCMP officers reinforced by Metropolitan Toronto Police, had prowled the streets of the cities dressed as bums and addicts, trailing suspects and photographing "drug meets" with telescopic lenses.

Officials said they estimate the syndicate handled $500,000 worth of heroin in March alone. They said it may have supplied United States sources for a time and almost certainly supplied major Canadian cities, especially in Ontario and British Columbia.

The cleanup started when RCMP officers arrested "chief suspect" Charles Cipolla, 50, a Guelph fruit shop and restaurant owner, outside a Brampton restaurant and seized $2,500. Cipolla claimed he had won the money in a crap game. Arrested with him was Orval Charles Hardy, 48, of Toronto.

RAIDED APARTMENTS
RCMP officers said they seized another $7,500 in raids on seven Toronto apartments. All suspects were charged with conspiring to traffic in drugs and possessing drugs for that purpose.

Chief RCMP superintendent R. W. Wonnacott said the amount of heroin seized represented about a 10-day supply for Toronto's estimated 500 addicts.

He predicted the drug famine would send the addicts streaming to Montreal-Vancouver and other centres.

Cipolla was charged with conspiracy to traffic in narcotics and possession of narcotics for purposes of trafficking.

FACE SAME CHARGES
Facing the same charges are: Orval Charles Hardy, 48, Jack Dalton Meldrum, 43, James Orville Ross, 40, Gloria West, 33, Marion Burns, 32, Michele Christine Poole, 20, Joan Dickson, 30, Frank Edgar Piro, 46, and Douglas James Thibeault, 33, all of Toronto.

All were to appear in court today.

RCMP said it has linked about $500,000 worth of drugs to the ring since mid-March. Most of the drugs were not seized for fear of disturbing surveillance.

Staff Sgt. Kelly Labrus, head of the RCMP drug squad here, said the drugs were believed to have come in from Europe through Montreal and New York for distribution in Ontario from Toronto.

GRITS DOING GOOD JOB —THOMPSON

CALGARY (CP)—Robert Thompson, national Social Credit party leader, said today that the minority government of Prime Minister Pearson is providing good government.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview that he does not expect a federal general election for at least two years.

Mr. Thompson, on his way to the annual exhibition in his home town of Red Deer, said the federal Liberal government should carry on and probably will continue to be a fairly good one providing it keeps accepting suggestions from opposition parties.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Fisheries Association of British Columbia, representing the majority of companies involved in a strike by salmon fishermen over prices, put forward new proposals today aimed at ending the 20-day tieup of the $70,000,000 industry.

The association sent to Provincial Conciliation Officer R. G. Clements a request he put to the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers Union (UFAW) a proposal that the strike be settled by arbitration. Prices for pink salmon has been the main point of contention.

The move came as the union wired Provincial Labor Minister Leslie Peterson asking him to intervene in the strike which has left 10,000 industry workers idle along the B.C. coast.

The association suggested:
1. That the union, after a vote of its members, authorize its members to resume fishing not later than Aug. 4.
2. That a single arbitrator be appointed by the provincial minister of labor and the federal minister of fisheries, with his decision final and binding on both parties.
3. That the proposal be accepted by the union executive not later than 6 p.m. local time today.

'Public Interest Obstructed'—Bonner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today accused B.C. Power Corporation directors of obstructing the public interest.

His gloves-off attack came as the whole B.C. Electric-B.C. Hydro stew continued to boil in the wake of Monday's judgment against the government.

B.C. Electric's former president, Dr. H. L. Purdy filed an affidavit in court declaring he considers himself reinstated.

The directors of the private company met in Vancouver to lay their strategy for attempting to regain control.

PREPARED TO FIGHT
B.C. Hydro and government lawyers prepared for a tough fight in the B.C. Supreme Court on Monday to retain public control pending an appeal of the judgment which declared the B.C. Electric takeover beyond provincial power.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. Power Corp. is not acting in the public interest in its attempts to obstruct a stay of proceedings which would allow B.C. Hydro to carry on public business.

He predicted that corporate lawyers would be especially obstructive in court Monday.

He said B.C. Power's original move for a cash settlement and its subsequent bid to regain control of B.C. Electric cannot be reconciled.

The best course, if it really wanted a settlement, he suggested, would be to accept the status quo of B.C. Hydro pending the government's appeal of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett's judgment.

Bank Resumes Trading

For 24 hours a single bank restricted trading in B.C. Hydro bonds, but reversed its decision today.

The abrupt about-face brought this comment from Attorney-General Robert Bonner:

"The Royal Bank is left with egg on its face."

Government officials were shocked and angry Wednesday when they learned that without any notification or consultation the Royal Bank of Canada had restricted trade in B.C. Hydro parity bonds.

The bonds are subject to a

Contractors to Miss Peace R. Deadline

VANCOUVER (CP)—Completion of the $16,900,000 diversion tunnels for the Peace River hydro development in northern British Columbia will be 30 days late.

The delay could cost the contractors up to $750,000 in penalties.

The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority confirmed Wednesday that the tunnels through Portage Mountain will not be finished for at least 30 days after the Aug. 15 completion date.

But it said it does not know whether all penalties will be assessed.

The contract called for a $250,000 bonus for meeting the completion date and a $25,000 penalty for each day beyond it.

Companies in the contracting group are Gilpin Construction Ltd. of Vancouver; Mannix Construction of Calgary; Drake Construction, Minneapolis; and Henry J. Kaiser (Canada) Ltd.

A Hydro spokesman said as long as the tunnels are complete by mid-September when construction is to begin on the $73,000,000 main dam there may not be too much damage done.

He said it is expected that some claims will be made for extensions on part of the project.

Claus Jacoby of Calgary, executive vice-president of Mannix said the companies will not try to evade conditions of the contract because of the complex situation created by a B.C. Supreme Court decision which makes B.C. Hydro a nonentity.

At present the contractors are working on the approaches to the three diversion tunnels through which the river will flow during construction of the main dam.

Outbreak of Thefts Predicted for City

A rash of drug thefts from pharmacies and doctors' offices was predicted in the metropolitan areas of B.C. today with the closure of the illicit market in Toronto.

A criminal investigation branch officer at RCMP headquarters said the narcotics underworld is controlled by supply and demand.

"The eastern syndicates have been the source and now they are dried up," he said.

"The pattern has been that the addicts—and B.C. has the highest concentration—then turn to legitimate sources such as doctors' bags and offices and drug stores..."

Power Team Ottawa-Bound Despite Uproar at Home

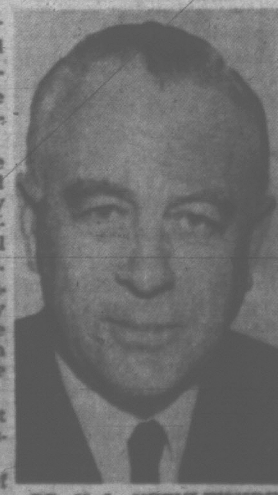

Three B.C. officials left Wednesday to open the first round of new Columbia treaty negotiations with Ottawa and the U.S., despite the legal thunderstorm at home.

The technical team will pave the way for a future top-level meeting which will probably include Premier Bennett, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, and high U.S. officials.

B.C. and Ottawa have already agreed upon their policy in new negotiations with the Americans on what have been termed "modifications" in the treaty.

The technical details of that policy will come under discussion in Ottawa today.

The B.C. team consists of B.C. Hydro co-chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside; Denis Kennedy, B.C. Hydro economist, and Gordon Kidd, deputy controller of water rights for the provincial government.

They went ahead despite Monday's supreme court ruling that B.C. Hydro does not legally exist.

Hydro, the officially-designated agency for the Columbia River project, is seeking a court order allowing it to remain in business pending an appeal.

The negotiations with the U.S. centre on sale by B.C. of Columbia downstream benefits.

B.C. wants enough money from the Americans to pay for $400,000,000 worth of construction on the three treaty dams it will build to harness the Columbia.

Other treaty modifications sought include extra payments for flood control.

U.S. Bank Gains Half Interest In Mercantile

NEW YORK (CP) — The First National City Bank has announced the conclusion of arrangements for it to acquire a 50-per-cent interest in the Mercantile Bank of Canada.

The deal is subject to approval of the United States Federal Reserve Board.

Founded in 1953, the Mercantile bank at May 31 this year held capital funds of more than $5,000,000 and total resources of $9,651,000. Its head office is in Montreal, with branches in Toronto and Vancouver.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Barley trade disclosed a sale of 660,000 bushels of Canadian barley to Japan. Other overseas inquiries were also mentioned.

Oats trade was light and domestic.

Flax trade uncovered some overseas buying accompanied by reports of about 70,000 bushels of Canadian flax sold to Japan as well as continental inquiries.

The rye market reflected irregularity on the Chicago rye market.

This corner threatens at times to become low-brow, a condition which we will try to correct with an occasional Great Thought. So today, I suggest we ponder certain reflections from an educator of note.

"Sentimentality tends to becloud issues and to blind one to the facts of life. One misconception that has stemmed from it is the belief that all children are equal.

"In fact it seems at times that educationists would even deceive the children into believing that they are equal.

"We cannot afford to let those of lesser ability be a constant drag upon those of greater ability."

The author of these musings is Dean S. N. F. Chant, head of the faculty of arts and science at UBC; and upon this rock is the education system of British Columbia, a province of democratic Canada, being rebuilt.

At second glance, I don't care much for that Great Thought, even though the dean has the support of Voltaire, Dr. Samuel Johnson and other whetted minds for his contentions.

Let's try another thought labored out by Thomas Jefferson as a guiding principle for the newborn United States of America.

"We hold these truths to be sacred and undeniable; that all men are created equal and independent, that from that equal creation they derive rights inherent and inalienable, among which are the preservation of life, and liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Comfortably lowbrow again, consider the plight of my friend Sandy Crawford, whose pursuit of happiness took him fishing from Becher Bay with a motor that lacked the excuse of age for its contrivance.

When it conked out finally and completely, he started the long row home.

"What hurt," Sandy tells me, "is that we'd gone out early, and while we rowed in, boats with working motors kept shooting past us, everyone so anxious to catch fish that they paid us no attention."

This unhappy condition lasted until a neighbor happened along, and spared time from his scurry for the grounds to offer a tow. Sandy then headed for the dealer's in hope of a spot repair which would let him get back to his fishing.

But the shop was closed, on its door a sign which announced, "Open at usual time tomorrow."

Sandy checked in with his motor next morning.

"Where were you guys, anyway?" he reproached.

"Well," the owner explained, "we've heard so much fish-talk from the customers that we decided to lock up and get out to Becher Bay ourselves. Did pretty well, too!"

The big canneries remain strikebound, but the little ones in many a Victoria kitchen are operating full blast as sport fishermen's wives take advantage of a saloon run the like of which hasn't been seen in years.

Sale of cans, canning outfits, sealers and boilers has boomed, and the more venturesome are trying their hand with makeshift smoke-houses.

I'm told that an old icebox, if you can latch on to one, makes an excellent smoker, with salmon fillets laid on the trays, and a smoulder of maple, wild cherry or alder chips beneath.

Keeping time of your fish depends on the duration and type of smoke cure, but since it's a good many years since I monkeyed with this native art, perhaps one of our local experts will fill out the details.

Meanwhile, the big run continues, and with it the tragedy of a strike that may bring a hard winter to more than a few commercials and their families.

Off now to paint a boat, pausing only to report on the existence in our city of a little old car whose young owner promises more than she can fulfill, I hope.

Inside, liberated from an aircraft, is a plate that carries this warning:

"Windows must be closed at speeds in excess of 150 mph."

Camp badges have been awarded to the following boys after attending a Canadian Forestry Associations camp at a forest warden training centre near Squamish:

K. Davies, J. Allum, G. Birtwistle, P. Clarke, D. St. Pierre, P. Kelly, A. Young, D. Thorne, M. Stone, J. Ferguson, P. Massy, G. Taylor, B. Clarke, P. James, B. Campbell, D. Mitchell, D. Cross, J. Cunningham, B. Chapman, D. Robertson, D. Pigott, T. Allum, all of Victoria; D. Anderson, D. Kirkpatrick, T. Schiller, Duncan; D. Harvey, J. Perreux, Lake Cowichan; D. Thompson, Nanaimo, and J. Milburn, Port Alberni.

The Prayer for Israel Group will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. in prayer room of Central Baptist Church, Pandora Avenue. Miss Doris Proffitt of Vancouver will be guest speaker.

Newly appointed to represent Esquimalt on the board of St. Joseph's Hospital is Coun. E. C. Cassels.

He replaces the late G. K. Sammon, who died in England in May.

Victoria International Film Festival showings at Cameron Shell, Beacon Hill Park, start at 8 p.m. from Monday until the end of the festival.

Documentaries so far have set a new record of attendance—3,700 for the last three showings alone, these on Australia, New Zealand and Japan—and 15,400 thus far for the season.

Last year the total attendance was 14,450, and the most any other single showing has drawn in B.C. is 2,000.

There are six shows remaining in the series, including Ireland, Brazil, India and Italy.

Three more oil companies—B.A. Oil, Shell Oil and Standard of B.C.—have raised gasoline prices in Victoria following a country-wide increase initiated by Imperial Oil Monday.

The four-tenths of a cent per gallon boost was made as a result of a 25 per cent increase in the federal gasoline tax. Prices are now 41.3 cents per gallon for standard gasoline and 46.3 cents for premium.

Two other major firms—Royalite and Texaco Canada—are also expected to follow with price boosts.

Four independent outlets in the Victoria area are still holding their old prices of 39.9 and 44.9 cents per gallon and have had no word as to whether or not the four-tenths of a cent federal tax will be passed on to customers.

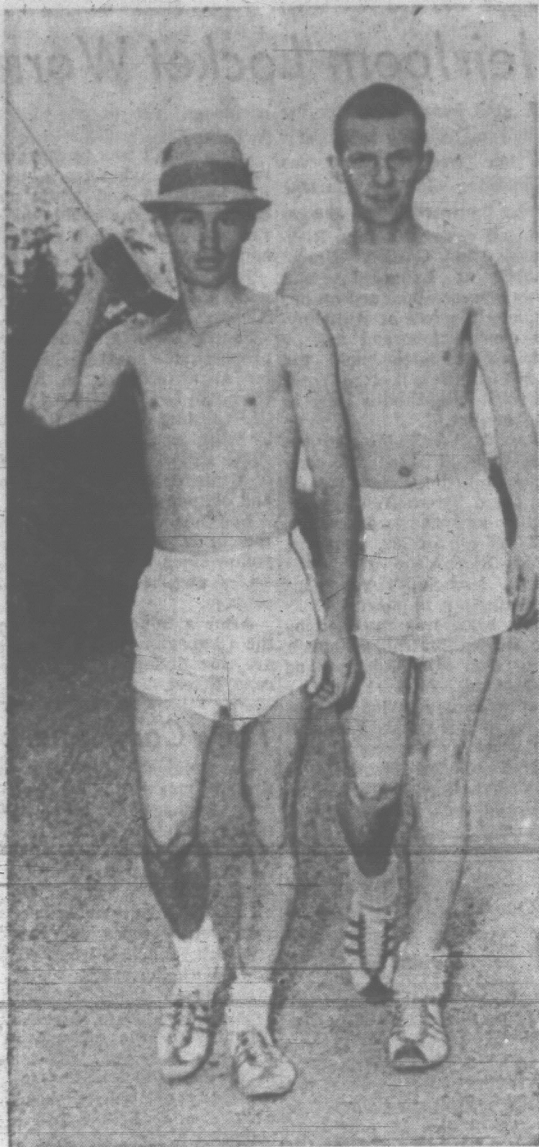

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel; R. G. McKee, deputy minister of forests, "Africa."

A woman and her four-year-old daughter went to hospital after a three-car collision Wednesday at Wilfert and Old Island Highway.

Mrs. Alma Farmer is in satisfactory condition, and daughter Terrie was released after treatment.

Involved in the accident were Clive Farmer, 1435 Craigflower, R. G. Howden, 1010 Nicholson, and George Andrews, 815 Latoria, police said.

Non-Stoppers

Attempting to break a 75-year-old non-stop walking record of 120 miles, Earl Speakman (left) and Norm Patenaude, both 18, left Victoria this morning on a 146-mile walk to Nanaimo and back. Boys expect it will take 40 hours. They had made 23 miles by noon. (Times Photo)

Teacher Shortage Remains 'Critical'

Greater Victoria school board officials used to boast that theirs was the "chosen land" for graduates of teacher training.

But even here they have noticed the shortage of teachers which has caused Education Minister Leslie Peterson to issue a rallying call to all holders of teaching certificates.

Mr. Peterson, in a province-wide advertisement, said "the need for qualified teachers in British Columbia's public schools remains critical."

Particular fields of teacher shortage, he said, were in rural areas, secondary commerce, French, home economics and girls' physical education. A shortage also was noticed in primary grades.

Greater Victoria Superintendent of Schools John Gough said today that although district schools are "fully staffed" for the coming academic year, "we have sensed that the number of applicants was not as great as heretofore."

But he added that only in the field of commerce was "some difficulty" encountered.

He blamed this on the fact that students who take commerce courses in high school are inclined to go into banking or clerical fields rather than teaching.

"Other teachers lack either the training or interest to handle the subjects," Mr. Gough said.

In any case, he added, the percentage of students enrolling in commerce classes is not increasing.

Locally, the general teacher shortage this year was aggravated because the board was looking for an additional 50 teachers over last year.

Mr. Gough said negotiations with only 182 applicants took place to fill 150 positions.

City Earns Interest On Taxes

City comptroller-treasurer James Bramley today said $1,500,000 of property tax collections will be invested in short-term securities.

Added to another $650,000 invested previously from accumulated tax prepayments, the city hopes to earn about $25,000 in interest before having to withdraw the money to pay civic bills later in the year.

Collections increased this week, reaching a peak Tuesday and Wednesday when crowds of ratepayers filled the collection department to beat the Aug. 1 deadline.

A total of $1,384,000 was paid up in the last two days alone. This morning the department was virtually deserted as a 1 per cent penalty went into effect on unpaid taxes.

Mr. Bramley added that budget estimates of $24,700 for Victoria's share of the commercial vehicle licence revenues pooled by the province likely would be met or exceeded.

The estimate was based on a return of 45 cents per capita and "so far we have received 40 cents per capita—amounting to a total of $22,000—in two payments but I expect we will pick-up another five or 10 cents per capita before the end of the year," Mr. Bramley said.

FROM ALBERTA

Judges George White, Mrs. T. Vaulhard, M. J. Bosher and W. J. Pynn are all of Victoria, but the blooms will be coming from many parts of British Columbia and as far east as Lethbridge.

Last year approximately 1,000 flower lovers attended the two-day show. Auction of all the blooms will be held at 9:30 p.m., Aug. 10.

The show is open to the public and competitor's prize lists are available from Mrs. J. Setchell, EV4-4342.

Sailors Donating Saguenay Funds

Local charities will receive close to $3,000 from the ship's fund of HMCS Saguenay when the Pacific Command destroyer escort pays off before a 14-month refit and conversion.

Checks will be presented aboard the destroyer at C Jetty, HMC Dockyard, Thursday morning.

COURTHOUSE TAKEN OVER BY CITY

Victoria took possession of the vacated Bastion Square Courthouse today.

City manager Dennis Young scheduled a meeting with department heads to review space allocations for the various civic offices when they are moved into the Courthouse in September.

The Courthouse will be the temporary civic headquarters for about 10 months while the interior of City Hall is renovated and an addition constructed as part of the Centennial Victoria Square project.

Several civic officials remarked on the good state of accommodation in the Courthouse and the amount of furnishings, lighting and other equipment left in it.

The building was sold to the city by the provincial government for $5,000 and several city-owned lots in James Bay. It was vacated about a year ago when the new Law Courts building was opened.

'Killer' Sprays Probe Launched

Permanent B.C. Body To Police Chemicals

The B.C. government is launching an all-out probe of chemical death.

The investigation may eventually lead to permanent controls over insecticides, weed-killers and agricultural antibiotics.

A special committee of officials from government and private groups has been sent up to do the inquiry.

It will set out terms of reference for a permanent advisory board to police use of chemicals in B.C.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said the investigation was sparked by widespread public concern and by preliminary inquiries made by both his department and the health department.

Health Minister Eric Martin asked for an investigation of the recent death of a small girl who drank insecticide.

Mr. Richter said the committee will examine the possibilities of controlling the use of chemicals, of special labeling, and also of restricted sales through approved outlets.

Heading the committee is Dr. A. B. Kidd, director of the agriculture department's livestock branch.

Representing the health department is Dr. John Smith, director of the division of occupational health in Vancouver.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical Association of Veterinary Scientists will also have representatives on the committee.

OTHER EXPERTS

Mr. Richter said that the advisory board to be set up later will probably also include forestry and conservation experts.

First committee meeting is planned around Aug. 19.

Mr. Richter said the investigation would cover a wide field.

It will include the effect of chemical sprays and weed killers on people and on animals; the use of antibiotics on animals; the effects of chemicals on agricultural crops and meat.

"These are problems that have been worrying us for a long time," he said.

"The difficulty is—how to approach them."

Existing Or Not, Hydro Authority Still Pays Debts

Whether or not the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority legally exists, it paid City Hall $5,179.

The money represents 3 per cent of the $172,633 gross passenger fares collected on the transit buses operating within city boundaries during the second quarter this year.

B.C. Hydro, which inherited the buses in the B.C. Electric takeover now ruled invalid, makes the payments each quarter under the city's franchise agreement.

It reported gross passenger fares for the entire Greater Victoria area totalled $280,137 during the past three months.

Ask The Times

Q. Is embalming of a body compulsory before burial? What are the advantages of embalming? C. S.

A. There is no regulation stating the remains must be embalmed. But the body must be registered with the local registrar of births, deaths and marriages who will issue a burial permit.

Embalming is done mainly to preserve the remains from the time of death until burial as well as for sanitary reasons. Embalming is a necessity if the corpse is to be shipped for a long distance.

Q. About what percentage of Canada's workers are members of labor unions? S. D.

A. About 22 per cent of the labor force.

MINE UNION SELLS SALMON TO AID FISHERMEN'S FUND

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union today asked Provincial Labor Minister Leslie Peterson to step in and try to settle the 20-day-old tieup in British Columbia's $70,000,000 salmon industry.

The union made the request in a telegram to the minister, suggesting he go to Vancouver to meet with union representatives and those of the Fisheries Association of B.C.

The association represents most of the fishing companies, with whom the union is at odds over salmon prices for 1963.

In Victoria Mr. Peterson said he has not yet decided what action to take on the request but would be in touch with the union later today.

Reg Clements, provincial conciliator who has been attempting to settle the dispute which has left 16,000 fishermen workers idle along the B.C. coast, said there are no plans for a union-association meeting today.

Earlier both sides seemed to be agreeable to arbitration as a means of settling the crippling dispute.

But the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) has some reservations which it hopes will be clarified today by federal Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud and Mr. Peterson.

The Fisheries Association Wednesday asked for the appointment of a single arbitrator to settle the dispute over salmon prices and wages that it estimates has cost $10,000,000 already.

The union later wired Mr. Robichaud, who first proposed arbitration, asking for clarification of several points including whether a three-man arbitration board named by union and management would be against the government's intent.

It said the association feels that the intent of the federal government is for a single arbitrator.

The union also wants all species of salmon and welfare benefits included in the terms of reference.

The ministers have proposed that fishing start during arbitration proceedings.

Handwritten signs were posted on utility poles opposite the wharf advertising red sockeye salmon at 40 cents a pound.

Other signs indicated the sale was being conducted by the Victoria local of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union for their "strike relief fund."

The fish were being sold from the Silver Venture, one of the striking fishboats tied up at the floats.

"They will be required to take out the normal trades licence today," said city manager Dennis Young. "The licence inspector is contacting them now."

LICENCE DEMANDED BY CITY

Striking fishermen began selling salmon from the city-operated fishermen's wharf off Erie Street this morning.

A city official was dispatched to require the union to take out a trades licence, costing from $30 to $280 depending on the number of retailers involved.

Station Robbed By Former Pump Attendant

A former gas pump attendant court today to stealing $374 from the station where he worked.

Curtis Till, formerly employed by Morrison Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Ltd., said he wanted to make restitution.

He was remanded until Aug. 8 for probation report and sentence.

Det. James Baxter of the city police told the court that Till had picked the lock of a strongbox in the service station with a bobby pin, and stolen the $347 in it, on June 30 of this year.

He left town immediately, and went on a trip through the United States, eventually making his way to Revelstoke, where he gave himself up to the RCMP.

Both Sid and Dot, as they are identified on their crash helmets, are employed with Crown Zellerbach in Camas, Wash. They use their car for commuting to work but otherwise prefer travelling by motor bike.

Mr. Pierce previously owned a smaller model. He taught his wife to ride it and rarely saw it again. Three months ago they bought two large models and already have clocked 2,570 miles.

Earlier this week they rode up to Hurricane Ridge on the Olympic Peninsula and camped out in a state park. Only mishap was when the air went out of the mattress.

Shortly after they arrived in Victoria they were seen parked along Government Street trying to figure out their position on a road map.

Fish Strike 'All But Settled'

Labor Leader Leslie Peterson said this afternoon the fishermen's strike is "all but settled."

He said that Homer Stevens, secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, has agreed to the appointment of a single arbitrator whose decision will be binding.

Mr. Stevens said the union is immediately holding a secret ballot on the proposal. If approved, full operations will resume not later than 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4.

Ottawa Sets
Trusteeship
For Unions

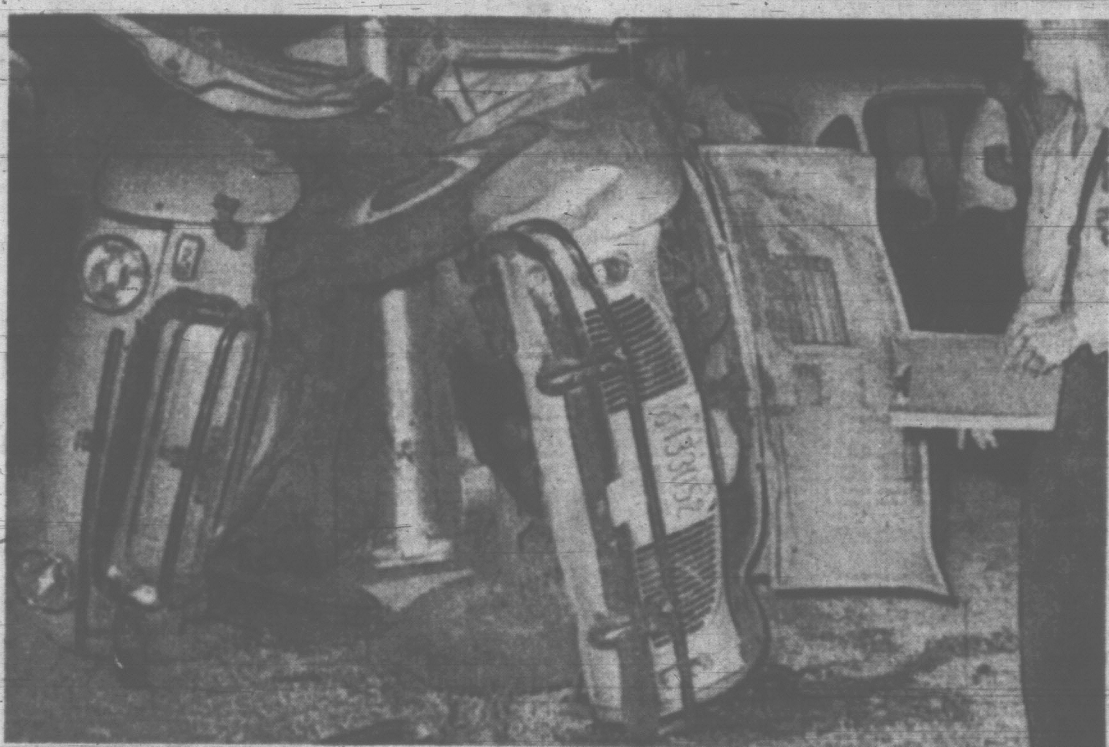

OTTAWA (UPI) — Labor Minister Allan MacEachen announced today the government will introduce legislation in the fall to set up a trusteeship governing the activities of the Canadian maritime transportation unions.

In a statement to the Commons, MacEachen said the government and Canadian Labor Congress had reached agreement that a trusteeship, the major recommendation of the Norris shipping inquiry report, was necessary under present "extraordinary" conditions.

MacEachen stressed that it would be of a temporary nature, and described it as a "distasteful remedy to deal with a repugnant situation."

He said the legislation was not being introduced before the summer recess as it would have been of a general nature.

He said the government intended to press ahead with a detailed bill during the recess to overcome any constitutional problems involved in order to reach a satisfactory solution.

'Public Interest Being Obstructed' — Bonner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today accused B.C. Power Corporation directors of obstructing the public interest.

His gloves-off attack came as the whole B.C. Electric-B.C. Hydro stew continued to boil in the wake of Monday's judgment against the government.

B.C. Electric's former president, Dr. H. L. Purdy filed an affidavit in court declaring he considers himself reinstated.

The directors of the private company met in Vancouver to lay their strategy for attempting to regain control.

B.C. Hydro and government lawyers prepared for a tough fight in the B.C. Supreme Court on Monday to retain public control pending an appeal of the judgment which declared the B.C. Electric takeover beyond provincial power.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. Power Corp. is not acting in the public interest in its attempts to obstruct a stay of proceedings which would allow B.C. Hydro to carry on public business.

He predicted that corporate lawyers would be especially obstructive in court Monday.

He said B.C. Power's original move for a cash settlement and its subsequent bid to regain control of B.C. Electric cannot be reconciled.

The best course, if it really wanted a settlement, he suggested, would be to accept the status quo of B.C. Hydro pending the government's appeal of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett's judgment.

He has already committed the government to fight the judgment to the highest court before even considering a settlement.

Meanwhile B.C. Power directors met in a lawyer's office at Vancouver all morning.

Chairman A. Bruce Robertson said he would report thoroughly on the judgment and the situation.

He said he did not know if any new moves would be taken before Monday.

Dr. Purdy, court-appointed receiver of B.C. Electric, Wednesday declared he believed "it to be true that I am now president and director of the electric company."

He was president prior to the government takeover of Aug. 1, 1961, and was appointed receiver by the courts the following March.

In his affidavit he said that as receiver he could accomplish the return of B.C. Electric to private hands "without disruption of service, inconvenience to the general public or hardship to employees of either the BCE or the B.C. Power Commission."

He said B.C. Electric's original move for a cash settlement and its subsequent bid to regain control of B.C. Electric cannot be reconciled.

The best course, if it really wanted a settlement, he suggested, would be to accept the status quo of B.C. Hydro pending the government's appeal of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett's judgment.

Power Team
En Route To Ottawa

Three B.C. officials left Wednesday to open the first round of new Columbia treaty negotiations with Ottawa and the U.S., despite the legal thunderstorm at home.

The technical team will pave the way for a future top-level meeting which will probably include Premier Bennett, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, and high U.S. officials.

B.C. and Ottawa have already agreed upon their policy in new negotiations with the Americans on what have been termed "modifications" in the treaty.

The technical details of that policy will come under discussion in Ottawa today.

The B.C. team consists of B.C. Hydro co-chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside; Denis Kennedy, B.C. Hydro economist, and Gordon Kidd, deputy controller of water rights for the provincial government.

They went ahead despite Monday's supreme court ruling that B.C. Hydro does not legally exist.

Makes Proposal
To Settle Hydro

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today that his government accepts the valuation price of $192,828,125 for all the common shares of the giant B.C. Electric utility, as set by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the B.C. Supreme Court and will so recommend to the legislature.

In his first full statement on the judgment brought down by Chief Justice Lett Monday, which termed the 1961 government takeover of the BCE as constitutionally illegal and setting the new valuation, the premier said:

"Not only my financial advisers but my legal advisers and the cabinet, have recommended that the government accept this price and we will recommend this to the legislature."

$1 MILLION MORE

The $192,828,125 price is some $21,000,000 more than the close to the $172,000,000 which was the government's final price for the takeover of all BCE common shares on Aug. 1, 1961.

The premier would not comment on the possibility of a special session of the Legislature to deal with the price matter. Neither would he say whether the government's decision has been communicated to B.C. Power Corporation, whose ownership of BCE now has been restored by the court judgment.

In a statement issued to the Canadian Press Mr. Bennett said that on this, the 11th anniversary of his government, he wanted to send greetings to the citizens of the province and assured them "that the finances of the government of B.C. have never been in better shape in all its history."

HOUSE VOTED PRICE

The premier recalled that two years ago the legislature by unanimous vote approved the expropriation of the B.C. Electric and subsequently set the take-over price at $171,833,052. Members for all parties had voted for it.

"The valuation of the common shares of the BCE was

He had no comment to make on whether the $21,000,000 extra payment might be acceptable to the corporation directorate.

His first reaction to the announcement was, "That's interesting."

difficult to ascertain," the premier said, "as they were all held by one corporation, the B.C. Power Corporation."

"So no offer of 51 per cent could be made to the shareholders such as was made by the province of Quebec, where the shares (of the utility companies expropriated) were held by hundreds of different people."

HOW REACHED

Therefore, the premier said, the legislature of B.C. unanimously, in setting the price, "set a price that would include the book value of the shares, all the undivided profits, plus $31,000,000."

"This totalled approximately $172,000,000 and this is the price that the legislature set in the bill for all the common shares of the B.C. Electric."

The premier said that "the government and the legislature only wanted to arrive at a fair price."

Mounties Smash
Huge Drug Ring

TORONTO (CP) — RCMP officers smashed what they claim to be Canada's largest narcotics syndicate when they raided homes in Toronto and two other towns Wednesday night, arresting 12 persons and seizing $100,000 worth of heroin.

They said the arrests of seven men and five women culminated five months of intensive investigations in six major Canadian cities. More arrests were expected.

In an operation code-named "Mr. Big," 75 RCMP officers reinforced by Metropolitan Toronto Police, had prowled the streets of the cities dressed as bums and addicts, trailing suspects and photographing "drug meets" with telescopic lenses.

Officials said they estimate the syndicate handled $500,000 worth of heroin in March alone. They said it may have supplied United States sources for a time and almost certainly supplied major Canadian cities, especially in Ontario and British Columbia.

The cleanup started when RCMP officers arrested "chief suspect" Charles Cipolla, 50, a Guelph fruit shop and restaurant owner, outside a Brampton restaurant and seized $2,500. Cipolla claimed he had won the money in a crap game. Arrested with him was Orval Charles Hardy, 48, of Toronto.

RCMP said it has linked about $500,000 worth of drugs to the ring since mid-March. Most of the drugs were not seized for fear of disturbing surveillance.

Staff Sgt. Kelly Labrousse, head of the RCMP drug squad here, said the drugs were believed to have come in from Europe through Montreal and New York for distribution in Ontario from Toronto.

All were to appear in court today.

RCMP officers said they seized another $7,500 in raids on seven Toronto apartments.

All suspects were charged with conspiring to traffic in

Outbreak of Thefts Predicted for City

A rash of drug thefts from pharmacies and doctors' offices was predicted in the metropolitan areas of B.C. today with the closure of the illicit market in Toronto.

A criminal investigation branch officer at RCMP headquarters said the narcotics underworld is controlled by supply and demand.

"The eastern syndicates have been the source and now they are dried up," he said.

"The pattern has been that the addicts—and B.C. has the highest concentration—then turn to other sources such as doctors' bags and offices and drug stores."

High Pension Cost Denied by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh has denied a report that the cost of financing the Canada Pension Plan will rise 15 per cent of payroll earnings.

Miss LaMarsh said in the Commons Wednesday that figures quoted by a Toronto actuary firm are "completely erroneous."

"The figures which were given at the time of the submission (by the government) are correct so far as actuaries are able to give figures, bearing in mind that we are projecting into the future," she said in reply to P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe East).

However the health minister said that the cost to employers and employees could rise to five per cent by the year 2000. Health department actuaries estimate the cost of the plan at two per cent.

The two-per cent rate, to be divided between employers and their workers, is guaranteed for the first 10 years of the pension plan.

"A Toronto actuarial firm said last week that the ultimate cost of the plan would be about nine per cent of payroll earnings. This would rise to 15 per cent by adding taxes needed to support the present $65 pension paid to all persons 70 years of age and over."

Miss LaMarsh said it is not correct to tie in both pensions because they are "on a completely different basis."

Contractors to Miss Peace R. Deadline

VANCOUVER (CP)—Completion of the $16,900,000 diversion tunnels for the Peace River hydro development in northern British Columbia will be 30 days late.

The delay could cost the contractors up to $750,000 in penalties.

The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority confirmed Wednesday that the tunnels through Portage Mountain will not be finished for at least 30 days after the Aug. 16 completion date.

But it said it does not know whether all penalties will be assessed.

The contract called for a $250,000 bonus for meeting the completion date and a $25,000 penalty for each day beyond it. Companies in the contracting group are Gilpin Construction Ltd. of Vancouver; Mannix Construction of Calgary; Drake Construction, Minneapolis and Henry J. Kaiser (Canada) Ltd.

A Hydro spokesman said as long as the tunnels are complete by mid-September when construction is to begin on the $73,000,000 main dam there may not be too much damage done. He said it is expected that some claims will be made for extensions on part of the project.

Claus Jacoby of Calgary, executive vice-president of Mannix said the companies will not try to evade conditions of the contract because of the complex situation created by a B.C. Supreme Court decision which makes B.C. Hydro a nonentity. At present the contractors are working on the approaches to the three diversion tunnels through which the river will flow during construction of the main dam.

GRITS DOING GOOD JOB — THOMPSON

CALGARY (CP)—Robert Thompson, national Social Credit party leader, said today that the minority government of Prime Minister Pearson is providing good government.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview that he does not expect a federal general election for at least two years.

Mr. Thompson, on his way to the annual exhibition in his home town of Red Deer, said the federal Liberal government should carry on and probably will continue to be a fairly good one providing it keeps accepting suggestions from opposition parties.
